Saanich Loses $158,000 In Provincial Aid

City, Oak Bay Receive More Under Formula, Esquimalt Down

By PETE LOUDON

Saanich municipality will lose about $158,000 in provincial aid this year due to equalization of assessment and the new school formula, it was learned today.

Out for Season

Rocket Richard, Canadians' star today was suspended for the rest of the year, including playoffs, by NHL President Campbell, for attacking an official Sunday night.

CCF Decision In Lillooet Due Saturday

By TOM GOULD

Times Legislative Reporter

The CCF party is expected to make the first move in the Lillooet by-election Saturday, when party members there decide whether to contest the seat.

A meeting will be held at Lillooet to make the decision. CCF leader Arnold Webster, Anthony Gargrave (CCF, McKenzie) and other party officials will be on hand.

CCF strategy could decide the outcome of the election. A CCF candidate was out in front in the first count of ballots in the 1953 general election, and Lillooet is a "working man's riding."

Under the single "X" ballot which will be in effect for the by-election, the CCF contestant is expected to have a good chance of walking away with the seat.

Meanwhile, the Liberals have announced plans for a giant nominating rally in April, with their eye on a June by-election call. No definite plans have yet been laid.

Social Credit plans for a nominating convention have not been announced.

Rebel Tory Sees 'Peace'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A meeting of national officers of the Progressive Conservative Party in Ottawa next week will be attended by Deane Finlayson, rebel B.C. leader.

Mr. Finlayson said today he is confident all differences between the B.C. association and national leader George Drew will be settled at the meeting.

"The aim is to restore all party affairs, federal and provincial, in B.C. to the provincial association constituted for that purpose," he said. "I believe the national officers will see their way clear to do this."

Flin Flon Champions

WINNIPEG (CP)—A quartet of Flin Flon secretaries today won the western Canada women's curling championship. Mrs. Ethel Wright's rink overpowered the Alberta entry skippered by Mrs. Graham Morton of Calgary 16-6 to win the Eaton trophy.

FRANCE WILL BUILD H-BOMB

PARIS (UP)—Premier Edgar Faure said today that France would build a thermonuclear weapon by herself or in co-operation with other nations.

"France cannot remain in an inferior category of nations because she does not have the thermonuclear weapon," he said.

Tanker Crew Forces Ship To Alter Course

Will Not Deliver Jet Fuel to Reds

HELSINKI, Finland (UP)—A crew rebellion forced the Finnish tanker Aruba to quit its course for Communist China with 13,000 tons of jet fuel today and a company spokesman said the ship now will head for a non-Communist port.

The chief petty officer and three mates joined the crew in a 42-man strike against running the gauntlet of Chinese Nationalist warships waiting to seize the Aruba and her cargo of fuel for Red China's Russian-built Mig jets.

Gunnar Damstrom, director of the Re-Be Shipping Company which owns the Aruba, said the tanker which now is in the Indian Ocean will have to call at a non-Communist port. He declined to say which one.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist navy cruising off the China coast has orders not to let the Aruba pass.

Bishop To Be Named

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Nine candidates are in the running for Anglican bishop of Kootenay, to be elected today at a meeting of 30 clergy and 60 lay delegates from every parish in the diocese.

THE POWER OF POSITIVE THINKING For Young People

(A revision of Dr. Norman Vincent Peale's best two-year best-seller "The Power of Positive Thinking" the following is one of a daily series of articles specially directed to young people but helpful to all ages.)

BY DR. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

CHAPTER II

POWER COMES FROM A QUIET MIND

A young girl, not more than 15 years old, came up to me after church one morning. "Could I ask you something, Dr. Peale?" she said.

I asked her to wait while I shook hands with a long line of people. Then I took her back to my study. "What's the matter?" I asked, expecting to hear about some difficulty at school, either with her friends or with her lessons.

"It's my mother," she said. "She can't sleep. I've got to find some way to help her sleep."

I was reminded of an incident that had happened to me, a man who had complained at the breakfast table in a hotel where I was stopping of his inability to sleep. "Maybe the coffee I drank before retiring had something to do with it," he said.

Then another man spoke up. "I had a grand night. Of course," he explained with a twinkle, "I used my go-to-sleep plan which never fails."

REVEALS TECHNIQUE

I prodded him for an explanation, as he meant me to do, and he gave me the following as his "never fail go-to-sleep technique."

"When I was a boy, my father, a farmer, had the habit of gathering the family in the parlor at bedtime and he read to us out of the Bible. I can hear him yet. In fact, every time I hear those Bible verses I always seem to hear them in the tone of my father's voice. After prayers I would go up to my room and sleep like a top.

"But when I left home I got away from the Bible reading and prayer habit.

"I must admit that for years practically the only time I ever

Hot Time In V-Town Tonight; Gaudy Welcome for Champions

Triumphant homecoming of the Penitents V's will be broadcast by CBU from 6.30 to 6.45 tonight.

Films of the homecoming will be shown on CBU-TV at 7.30 p.m. Thursday.

CALGARY (UP)—The plane carrying the Penitents V's home was delayed for nearly an hour here when a crowd estimated at more than 1,000 persons would not let it take off. It took police 45 minutes to clear the runway.

PENITENT (UP)—This peach of British Columbia cities opened up its heart today for its world hockey champion V's in the noisiest, most colorful celebration in its history as the team neared home and a gaudy hero's welcome. (See Sports Page.)

The long, narrow main street bustled with activity as celebrants hung banners, balloons, pictures and placards.

Coach Grant Warwick's fabulous club was due at 4 p.m. aboard a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane after its triumphant European tour which returned the world hockey championship to Canada. The team had originally been scheduled to return at 2.45 p.m.

20,000 TO CHEER

Green and white paper streamers—in the colors of the club—were hung across the street. The V's homecoming parade will come down this street, with a crowd of 20,000 expected to cheer the players, who will each ride in a convertible car.

The hour-long parade was to be followed with a mass reception at the Civic Arena. Street square dancing was planned, in addition to four public dances. Films of the V's 5-0 defeat of the Moscow Dynamos were to be shown at a downtown school.

Acting Mayor E. A. Titchmarsh was to present each player and club official with commemorative silver trays from the city.

FRENCH RATIFICATION OF ARMS PACT CERTAIN

PARIS (UP)—The powerful Senate foreign affairs committee approved the Paris pacts without amendment today to practically assure French ratification of German rearmament.

The committee voted 20 to 6 with four abstentions in favor of the accords which come up for debate before the full Senate next week.

The committee recommendation is expected to push ratification over the top after four years of French hesitation about German rearmament.

Noted B.C. Soldier Next Lieut.-Governor?

Possibility that the next Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia may be Maj.-Gen. Harry F. G. Letson, CB, CBE, MC, ED, PhD, LLD, of Vancouver and Ottawa, was reported to the Daily Times today from usually reliable sources in Vancouver and the nation's capital.

Maj.-Gen. Letson was reported "considering" a suggestion that he become the Queen's representative at Cary Castle when Lt.-Col. Clarence Wallace, CBE, retires in October.

In the widespread speculation as to a successor, the name of Maj.-Gen. Letson has not herebefore been mentioned. Prominent among those who have been named "likely candidates" are Vice-Admiral Rollo Mainguy, chief of naval staff at Ottawa, and a native of Vancouver Island; and Frank Ross, well-known Vancouver soldier-rancher-industrialist.

Maj.-Gen. Letson's wife is the former Sally Lang Nichol, daughter-in-law of the late W. C. Nichol, who was lieutenant-governor of British Columbia from 1920 to 1926.

Maj.-Gen. Letson, a native of Vancouver, graduated from the University of B.C. in 1919 and took a PhD from London University in 1923.

He served in both world wars and was badly wounded in the 1914-18 war when he won a Military Cross. He was adjutant-general from 1942 to 1944 and chairman of the Canadian Joint Staff Mission in Washington, D.C., in 1944 and 1945.

From 1946 to 1952 Maj.-Gen. Letson was secretary to the Governor-General of Canada, serving both Viscount Alexander of Tunis and the Hon. Vincent Massey.

A crack rifle shot, Maj.-Gen. Letson commanded the Canadian Bisley team in 1934 and is a life governor of the Canadian Rifle Association.

In business life, Maj.-Gen. Letson has been president of Letson and Burpee Ltd. since 1935 and a director of the Powell River Company and Ferro Enamels (Canada) Ltd.

Princess Still Smiles

LONDON (AP)—Britons gossiping from Land's End to John o' Groats about Peter Townsend and Princess Margaret saw in their morning newspapers to-day pictures of a smiling princess, taken when Margaret attended the dedication of a new church here Tuesday night.

She kept smiling as cries came from crowds hanging over windowsills: "We'll love you always," and "We're with you, Margaret, we're with you."

MPs Divide 141-112 On Welshman's Ouster

LONDON (CP)—Labor members of Parliament kicked left-winger Aneurin Bevan out of their ranks today on charges of disloyalty. This isolates him as an independent in the House of Commons.

The 57-year-old former Welsh coal miner, was reported to have told a closed meeting of Labor MPs that he would never ask for reinstatement.

The action came on a motion to "withdraw the whip" from Bevan—meaning to remove the party label. The vote was 141 to 112.

This disciplinary move was sponsored by the moderate supporters of former prime minister Clement Attlee, the party's 72-year-old official leader. He has been subject to repeated attacks from Bevan and his followers in the last three years.

TURN DOWN REPRIMAND

Attlee's supporters rejected a last-minute attempt to get Bevan off with a reprimand. The vote on that was 138 to 124.

Today's decision creates the biggest Labor party crisis since prewar days. Bevan's followers predicted after today's meeting that the decision has crushed the party's hopes of beating the Conservatives if the government calls a national election this year.

There were a number of abstentions in the showdown. There are 292 Labor members of the House of Commons. Socialist peers in the House of Lords also were eligible to take part in the meeting.

Bevan's reported retort that he would "never ask to have the whip back" seemed to dampen any attempts to mend the split in the party despite the prospects of an election.

MUST ABIDE BY RULES

By tradition the whip is not returned unless the member concerned applies for reinstatement and signs a declaration to abide by party rules in the future.

The parliamentary group is a separate group—distinct from the Labor Party itself.

Expulsion from the party can be imposed only by the national executive, the supreme disciplinary body. Attlee normally controls the 29-member executive and only six members are classified as outright Bevanites.

Bevan could probably command more votes than this, however, with many middle-of-the-roaders shying away from expelling him to keep rank-and-file followers of the Welshman from revolting.

HAS A FINAL APPEAL

Bevan still has a final appeal—to the Labor party conference as a whole.

Today's decision will be reported in writing to the party executive and then the question whether there should be any further action may be raised.

The last time the whip was withdrawn was November, 1934, when seven MPs lost it because they refused to follow the Labor line in the Commons.

On that occasion the report from the parliamentary party was formally noted and no further action was taken. Since then, all seven have, upon their own request, been returned to the fold.

OVER H-BOMB POLICY

The disloyalty charges grew out of Bevan's heated opposition to the official party line on hydrogen weapons.

Attlee and his shadow cabinet—15 leading party members who would become government ministers if the party returned to power—backed the Churchill government's policy of building and stockpiling H-bombs as a deterrent to Communist aggression.

"It's no good going to the Kremlin thinking you can read them the Sermon on the Mount," Attlee said in a speech. "You have to talk to them straight."

But Bevan kicked over the traces with a call for a declaration that Britain would never use the H-bomb unless an enemy used one against Britain first. About a fifth of the Labor members in the House, including ardent pacifists, supported him. The fight was joined with a declaration by moderate Sir Hartley Shawcross that Bevan's proposal was "suicidal, almost criminal."

Many Conservatives continued putting pressure on Churchill to call a general election quickly to take advantage of the Labor feuding.

Attlee and the shadow cabinet scorned suggestions of compromise with Bevan, agreeing in advance to resign if Bevan won today.

ANEURIN BEVAN

... won't ask reinstatement

New Party? 'Nonsense' Says Jennie

TORONTO (UP)—Jennie Lee, wife of ousted British Laborite Aneurin Bevan, said today that any speculation that her husband might form a separate political party would be "complete nonsense."

In a trans-Atlantic telephone interview with the Toronto Star, she said Bevan "feels his home is in the labor movement" and that "the points of view he expresses are those of the great majority of those in the labor movement."

She stressed that the party's national executive and national congress must still discuss the action of the parliamentary body in disowning Bevan.

In the meantime, she said, her husband "will continue expressing the viewpoints which are his and which he believes to be those of most persons in the labor movement."

Markets Still Moving Ahead

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market extended its recovery drive today with advances ranging to around $4 a share in some instances.

Bethlehem Steel rose $4.12, General Dynamics $2.87, American Telephone $2.12 and Sears Roebuck & Co. $1.75.

There was a brisk demand for shares at the opening and the ticker tape ran behind in reporting transactions.

School Costs Up $1.4 Million At Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—A whopping $16,760,515 budget, bearing the seal of approval of the department of education in Victoria, was presented to city comptroller Frank Jones Tuesday by school board officials.

Vancouver's share of the expenses will be $8,087,709.

Estimated school expenditures for 1955 are $1,470,799 higher than 1954 on a comparable basis. But because of the new provincial school tax formula officials could not immediately estimate the cost to city residents.

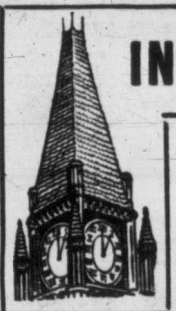

Muscle Injury Benches Kilburn

Colin Kilburn of Victoria Cougars may possibly be lost to the club for the balance of the season. Kilburn suffered a shoulder injury in Tuesday night's game at Vancouver and this afternoon was to undergo tests for a possible muscle tear.

If a muscle tear is present Kilburn will be forced to undergo surgery.

Quebec Tory Demands
St. Laurent Resign
On Unemployment Issue

(From CP and BUP Dispatches)

Increasing unemployment has given rise to an Opposition call for Prime Minister St. Laurent's resignation.

J. Wilfrid Dufresne (PC-Quebec West) said Tuesday night there is no alternative but resignation in the face of "complete and total failure" to provide full employment.

Mr. Dufresne, speaking in a continuing Commons debate on unemployment, based his argument on a Quebec City speech by Mr. St. Laurent last September in which he said: "If we are not smart enough to organize the economy of the nation to provide work for everybody we are incompetent."

That statement has been repeated frequently by opposition members in recent Commons debates. But Tuesday night was the first time it was used as the basis for a resignation demand.

OWN WORDS PROOF

Mr. Dufresne said the prime minister's own words are proof of his "sad incompetence."

Bill to Reduce Voting Age Beaten

By a vote of 177 to 24 Tuesday rejected a CCF-proposed bill that the federal voting age be reduced to 18 years from 21.

The vote cut across party lines with six Liberals, including Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, joining 18 CCF members in supporting the measure.

The Progressive Conservatives, Social Credit members and the two independents in the House—Paul Gagnon, Chicomil, and Raoul Poulin, Beauce—joined the Liberals in opposing it.

Other Liberals besides Mr. McCubbin who voted for the bill were Tom Goode (L., Burnaby-Richmond), Hon. C. G. Power (L., Quebec South), Hugh A. McKenzie (L., Lambton-Kent), David Croll (L., Toronto Spadina) and Elmore Philpott (L., Vancouver South).

The proposal was made by Hazen Argue (CCF, Assiniboia). He appealed to the House to cast aside party considerations in the vote.

The Commons passed a bill in almost record time Tuesday.

In less than a minute and a half it gave second reading—approval in principle—committee consideration and third and final reading to a bill changing the name of the federal election riding of Northumberland, N.B., to Northumberland-Miramichi.

The bill was sponsored by George R. McWilliam, Liberal member for the riding, because there is also a riding of Northumberland, Ont.

A Saskatchewan CCF member said Tuesday the Social Credit organization in his province is being sabotaged by its B.C. colleagues.

Claude Ellis, Regina City, made the statement in a Commons unemployment debate as

TLC Asks BCE Bus Fare Cut,
Demands 'Dismissal' of PUC

VANCOUVER (CP)—Trades and Labor Council Tuesday called for an 11-cent city bus fare for the next six months to compensate riders who paid the now-illegal 15-cent fare since September.

Delegates at a VTLC meeting voted solidly to press for the further fare reduction as the best way of recovering money spent on the 15-cent fare which was cut back to 13 cents by the B.C. Court of Appeal after it had been in effect since September.

Another unanimously endorsed resolution called for the immediate dismissal of members of the Public Utilities Commission who granted the fare increase in the first place.

Says Gen. BurnsUN Truce Chief
Reaches New York

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (Reuters)—Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Ottawa, chief of the United Nations truce supervision organization in Palestine, said on his arrival in New York Tuesday that he did not believe there was any danger of full-scale fighting between Israel and Egypt.

Burns is to present a personal report to the United Nations Security Council Thursday on the Feb. 28 incident in the Gaza strip, in which 39 Egyptians and eight Israelis were killed.

He told reporters that when he left the Middle East by air last week-end he was under the impression that both sides were exercising restraint while the matter was being considered by the Security Council.

Burns has travelled to New York at the council's request. He said he could not discuss the report he would make to the council.

QUIET PERIOD

Asked whether the Israeli-Arab border situation in general had improved, he said there had been a quiet period for a while but that the Gaza incident had been "a very bad one."

Asked about proposals for strengthening the truce supervision organization, Burns called the reporters' attention to four recommendations he had made to the Security Council last year.

These had called for patrolling of sensitive sections by jointing patrols from each party and from the United Nations; negotiation of a local commanders' agreement, generally along the lines of the Israel-Jordan agreement in force prior to June 1, 1954; construction of a double apron barbed-wire fence along certain border positions; and manning of all outposts and patrols by regular Egyptian and Israeli troops.

The general said that he had not brought any exhibits with him from the scene of the Gaza fighting, but had some photographs.

CONDEMNED ISRAEL

The Israeli-Egyptian mixed armistice commission recently condemned Israel for the Gaza incident. An appeal by Israel to a committee headed by Burns was later rejected.

Shortly after his arrival, Burns went to United Nations headquarters and was understood to have conferred with secretary-general Dag Hammarskjöld. Later he was to see Selim Sarper of Turkey, president of the Security Council for March.

"I regret to see that the obligation imposed on the government by the constitution has not been fulfilled," Farris said.

Several senators on both sides of the House said "Hear, hear!"

Companies involved in an alleged combine in the manufacture of wire fencing will be prosecuted, it was disclosed Tuesday.

A return tabled for Davie Fulton (PC-Kamloops) by Justice Minister Garson said counsel for the restrictive trade practices commission have been instructed to prosecute and now are preparing their case.

EARLY VISITORS

Dutch traders visiting Manhattan Island, New York, in 1615 knew it as "Fort Nassau."

But VTLC delegates stressed they wanted dismissals, not resignations.

Ike Will Use
Atom Weapons
If U.S. Fights

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower today said he sees no reason why tactical atomic weapons should not be used against strictly military targets should this country become involved again in any major fighting.

The president generally echoed the prediction by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Tuesday that small tactical atomic weapons would be used by this country if the United States became involved in a major military action.

The president added under news conference questioning that it would be foolish to ignore the fact that the dangers of war are greater than they were some years ago.

This was in connection with Dulles' statement that he returned from his recent trip to the Far East with a sense of foreboding, and with Tuesday night's statement by Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, that there is a possibility that war could break out in Asia at any time.

Mr. Eisenhower made no attempt to inject a time factor into his comments on war. But he said the very fact that the U.S. maintains powerful security forces is due to the ever-present possibility of war.

In discussing Dulles' statement of yesterday, the President said that use of any kind of atomic weapon on other than strictly military targets would pose an entirely different set of circumstances and conditions which would have to be examined closely.

MANY A-WEAPONS

He said the United States has produced a variety of nuclear fission weapons.

In any combat where such weapons could be used for strictly military targets and strictly military purposes, he saw no reason why they should not be used just as bullets are employed.

Mr. Eisenhower declined to discuss a report that the thermonuclear device exploded in the Pacific last year was a "bargain basement" weapon consisting of a bomb in a natural uranium jacket. The President referred the questioner to the Atomic Energy Commission.

The AEC has refused to comment on the report.

RCAF Para-Rescue Teams to Join
In U.S. Exercise

WINNIPEG (CP) — RCAF and USAF para-rescue teams and search personnel will take part in a joint search and rescue training operation at Denver, Colo., March 21-25.

The RCAF here announced today that Operation Pike's Peak had been organized for the furtherance of co-operation between the two air forces by exchanging knowledge of each other's methods and equipment during a simulated search and rescue.

Taking part in the five-day operation will be personnel from the rescue and co-ordination RCAF centres at Vancouver, Edmonton and Winnipeg; and USAF teams from the 43rd air rescue squadron at McChord air force base, Washington and the 44th air rescue squadron at Lowry air base, Colorado.

Mr. Eisenhower made no attempt to inject a time factor into his comments on war. But he said the very fact that the U.S. maintains powerful security forces is due to the ever-present possibility of war.

In discussing Dulles' statement of yesterday, the President said that use of any kind of atomic weapon on other than strictly military targets would pose an entirely different set of circumstances and conditions which would have to be examined closely.

MANY A-WEAPONS

He said the United States has produced a variety of nuclear fission weapons.

In any combat where such weapons could be used for strictly military targets and strictly military purposes, he saw no reason why they should not be used just as bullets are employed.

Mr. Eisenhower declined to discuss a report that the thermonuclear device exploded in the Pacific last year was a "bargain basement" weapon consisting of a bomb in a natural uranium jacket. The President referred the questioner to the Atomic Energy Commission.

The AEC has refused to comment on the report.

prayed was when I got into a jam. But some months ago my wife and I, having a number of difficult problems, decided we would try it again. We found it a very helpful practice, so now every night before going to bed she and I together read the Bible and have a little session of prayer. I don't know what there is about it, but I have been sleeping better and things have improved all down the line. In fact, I find it so helpful that even out on the road, as I am now, I still read the Bible and pray. Last night I got into bed and read the 23rd Psalm. I read it out loud and it did me a lot of good."

I told this incident to the girl. She listened carefully. "I see," she said. "I'll tell mother."

REQUIRES EFFORT

Then she thanked me politely and left. Later she told me that her mother followed this suggestion. "Now she never takes a sleeping pill, and," the girl added, "when I get a bit jittery I try it myself and it's wonderful for quieting the mind."

The essence of the secret of acquiring quietude of mind lies in a change of mental attitude. Probably that mother would have to learn to live on a different thought basis, even though such thought change requires effort. The life of strain is difficult; the life of inner peace is the easiest type of existence for it is harmonious and without tension. The chief factor is gaining mental peace is to revamp your thinking and take the relaxed attitude of accepting God's gift of peace.

As an illustration of taking a relaxed attitude and therefore receiving peace of mind, I always think of an experience I had after delivering a lecture one evening. It was late and I was back in my hotel when the telephone rang. Without identifying myself, a young man—I judged him young from his voice—said, "I just wanted you to pray with me. I thought if you would pray with me perhaps I could get some peace."

"Now," I said, somewhat surprised, "You mean over the telephone?"

"I thought maybe you would," said the boy.

APPEALS TO GOD

I wanted to ask him what was troubling him, why he needed peace. But it seemed simpler just to do as he asked. When I finished I suggested, "Won't you pray?" There was no response and I thought I heard sobbing. "Go ahead and cry," I said. "And then pray."

Fire Guts B.C. School But 96 Children Safe

ALDERGROVE, B.C. (CP)—Ninety-six elementary school students raced to safety Monday afternoon as their three-room school at nearby Aberdeen was destroyed by fire.

The fire, believed to have started under the front steps of the old frame building, quickly swept through the entire building forcing the children to leave behind school books, coats and other personal belongings.

Firemen summoned from Abbotsford and Aldergrove were unable to save the structure.

School principal James Murray said all the students escaped unharmed but added they got out "just in time."

School authorities said they

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTEETH at any drug counter.

Cory Archer Wins 'Gateway to Stardom'

A chance to go to New York, expense-free, was won by Cory Archer, 21, 1704 Knight, when she was named winner of an Odeon Theatre "Vera Cruz Exquisite Form Gateway to Stardom" contest Tuesday night.

The pert telephone company employee gets $300 worth of prizes donated by merchants of the 700 block Yates, and is eligible for a $10,000 modelling contract, which will be given to one of 18 girls from all over North America chosen by New York judges on the basis of local contests.

Miss Archer was selected by an independent panel of judges from nine finalists entered in the local contest in conjunction with the movie, "Vera Cruz," playing here.

Judges based their decision on features, physique, poise, manner, speech and talents. Contest was open to any girl over the age of 18 and single.

A picture of the winner, her history, hobbies, special interests and general description will be sent to New York for further judging. If she is one of the three Canadians selected to go to New York, Miss Archer will receive additional prizes, or if she is one of the 200 girls selected on the basis of photograph and description, she will share in $25,000 worth of prizes.

Grand prize is the $10,000 modelling contract, accompanied by a Hollywood screen test.

No Escape for Canada

MR. PEARSON, A REALIST, asks Canadians to face the real facts of their partnership with the United States. The first fact, imposed by history and geography, is that Canada must be involved in any great war involving the United States. "Today, I think," Mr. Pearson says, "that the neutrality of either of us, if the other were engaged in a major war in which its very existence were at stake, would be unthinkable."

This does not mean, he adds, that Canada accepts the United States' commitments to help Chiang Kai-shek in Formosa and the offshore Chinese islands, "but that is not the same thing as saying that they may not involve us. And it certainly is not the same as saying that they do not concern us."

In other words, Mr. Pearson is saying that if the United States engages in some distant peripheral war which does not risk serious damage to America and pursues that war for reasons which Canada does not accept, then we might refuse to participate. As he has stated before, in the case of Formosa, our present obligations are only those of a member of the United Nations. We have accepted no concrete obligation to the United States in this area.

But the purpose of Mr. Pearson's significant speech evidently is to warn Canadians that local wars often expand into great wars. And in any great war threatening the United States neutrality is impossible for us.

Of course it is. Canada's primary defense, as a part of North America, is the power of the United States. In the air we cannot possibly defend our own territory alone from a large aggressor. We have recognized that fact in the Ogdensburg agreement of 1940 and in our joint defense planning since then.

If we gladly accept the support of American power we must also accept the responsibility that goes with it in defending the continent of which we are geographically a half.

Finally, if the United States is engaged in a great war and is attacked, Canada probably will be the avenue of the attackers and may well be attacked itself. We need not expect that our neutrality would be respected by an aggressor even if we proclaimed it. In short, Canada is part of the North American continent and cannot repeal its geography or its history.

Mr. Pearson argues that if escape is impossible, Canada must always do everything possible to influence American policy in the direction of Canada's interests, which are the interests of peace. We should "stoutly maintain and frankly express our own view."

This Mr. Pearson has been doing with candor, persistence and superb skill since he became Canadian foreign minister seven years ago. No Canadian statesman, not even Mr. King, ever had so much influence on American foreign policy, for in Washington Mr. Pearson is regarded by White House and Congress not as a foreigner but as a member of the continental family.

As The Christian Science Monitor noted the other day: "Frequently the restraining influence on Washington which is presumed to be from London actually comes from Ottawa. More than once during recent years Ottawa has exercised almost a veto on the plans and policies of Washington. Canada is one of the new centres of influence and power in the world and one which very much possesses a mind of its own."

Fortunately the Canadian mind has found a brilliant instrument in Mr. Pearson, recognized as one of the leading world statesmen of his time. And fortunately, at this dangerous juncture in the world's history, Mr. Pearson is not attempting to hide the dangers from the Canadian people.

The Session's Cold Facts

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S 24TH Legislature has prorogued its sometimes turbulent third session and left a record that deserves public scrutiny.

Stripped of the hot words and political drama which gave it life, the session was notable for a few cold facts.

Chief among these were expenditure estimates raised to an all time high. The Government, elected on pledges of economy, has arranged to spend more than any of its predecessors. To do this it is billing the public for high taxes and is, through guarantees to specific agencies, embarking on a borrowing program of unusual proportions. Finally, it is—in the terms of the estimates at least—budgeting for a deficit.

The performance leaves such phrases as "pay-as-you-go" "debt reduction" and "economy" just so much fly-blown window dressing yellowing in the political show case.

Most important of the Government's legislation is the new school financing formula with the accompanying re-arrangement of financial aid to municipalities. The municipalities know what has been taken from them in sales tax and motor license fees. They have been assured that they will benefit under the new system of provincial grants.

Those assurances will, however, have to await experience in civic and municipal financing this year and in the years to follow. At this point only the cloudiest idea can be formed of the results of the new plan. That picture may clear somewhat in the next few days as school boards transmit to the appropriate city and municipal officials their requirements for school purposes.

Princess Margaret

THE PRESENT SPATE OF Gossip about the future of Princess Margaret shows at once how deeply the British people feel about her happiness and also how a few meddlers are determined to destroy it.

The marriage of a royal princess, third in succession to the Throne, cannot be granted the decent privacy accorded to other women in the realm. By the British constitution royal marriages which may involve the Throne must have the approval of the people through their Parliament. It was for this reason that the Duke of Windsor was compelled to abdicate when the people would not accept the bride of his choice. The monarchy was thereby saved from grievous damage.

But surely the constitutional, not to speak of the personal, position of Princess Margaret is quite different from that of her uncle, who was King. In the first place, it is entirely improbable that she will ever ascend the Throne or exercise any direct power in the government of Britain and the other Commonwealth nations. In the second, if this is thought desirable, she can renounce any chance of succession in order to marry the man of her choice.

All but a few Canadians, therefore, will undoubtedly feel that she should be allowed, like any other British woman, to do as she wishes. Few people in this country can have anything but feelings of regret and disgust when they see her private life becoming the subject of world-wide debate and her happiness imperiled by a peculiarly repulsive form of mental torture.

It may be asked what right Canadians have to express an opinion on this matter. They have an undeniable right. Queen Elizabeth is the queen of Canada who happens to live in London and her family is the Canadian Royal Family, the core of our Canadian monarchy. Anything that concerns that Canadian institution concerns all Canadians. And happiness, we may be sure, is all that Canadians wish the princess.

An Old Soldier Who Just Won't Fade Away

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

UP until the 1840's, an object that had accidentally caused the death of a man was considered (by the superstitious and the lawyers alike) to have a curse on it. It was considered somehow responsible in itself for the man's death. It was therefore taken away from its owner, quite legally, and was forfeit to the Crown. It was called a dead-end... that is to say, dedicated to God... and it was put to pious uses. This was rather tough on the owner, who had done no wrong. Still, I dare say it was generally felt, in an obscure but pleasurable way, that it somehow served him right... the smart-aleck.

WE are not quite so superstitious today. Or rather, our superstitions follow very different lines. All the same, we still have a trace of the dead-end in our law about motor vehicles. The owner of the vehicle is financially responsible for damage caused by the driver. If he recklessly encourages a drunk or a well-known fool to drive his car, he should certainly be responsible. But if the driver has a perfect record and then suddenly makes the one mistake of his life, in what way is the owner supposed to have been able to predict that mistake or to have caused that mistake? And if the owner can go to the poorhouse for another man's error of judgment, why not send him to the jailhouse too for another man's criminal negligence? Why not fine him for another man's speeding? And cancel his driver's license along with the other man's? Let us be consistent.

THE other day I heard of a case which went very like this: a man left his car to be sold at a used-car lot, and was told by the dealer that his car would be suitably insured. One day a friend of the owner needed a car in a hurry and asked if he could drive it off the lot for a few hours. The owner and the dealer agreed. Unhappily, the dealer made a mistake about the state of the insurance. So that when the borrower had an old man run under his wheels, and a court held he hadn't taken enough care, it turned out that the owner of the car was indebted to the old man's widow for a sum that will cripple him for the next ten years.

Now you will be able to give me many reasons why the law should be kept the way it is. And why nobody should lend a car anyhow. Some of your reasons would probably convince me, too. But do you also think I should be responsible for everything another man does with any chattel of mine? If not, why pick up at all. In any event, Esquire Brown was probably a Calypso singer and needed this name in his business.

As Our Readers See It

THEY DON'T LIKE... It seems a very odd quirk in human nature which prompts people to ignore completely something until someone else wants or notices it.

At Elk Lake over the years no one has ever put effort or money into making it a nice place to go. Except for the little work at Happyland (paid for by public money) nothing has been done. The junk heaps have come and gone and come again in the woods on the lake border.

Half-hearted attempts at making Beaver Lake attractive have been made but little money has been spent on the area as a whole. No one has done anything about the diseased trees and rotting windfalls at Elk Lake. No kind private individual has given funds for the retention or beautification of the area. No one has seen the possibilities of gardens and playing fields until now.

The very minute someone does intimate an interest in the area, it will not matter what that interest was either, there are people who will band together to stop that effort. The reasons for the banding together are multiple, reasonable, unreasonable, imaginary but always selfish. Some folks just cannot bear to see anything being done. The status quo must be retained as they see it. No progress must ever touch them.

These folks don't like people, don't like noises, don't like fairs, don't like horse-racing, don't like cars, don't like buildings. Their 'don't likes' are many colored and varied. Someone thinks the view of his Tom Tinker's ground will be spoiled. Another says he walks amongst the trees and therefore you, the general public, must pay for this private view and private park by loss of revenue, employment, taxes and perhaps the Vancouver boat for the C.P.R. is not going to keep sending steamers to a place dominated by retrogression and prohibitions.

Takes Issue with Author-Columnist

Walter Lippmann, famous news analyst and columnist, tells the world that he has completed the book which he started in Paris in 1938 when he noticed: "The alarming failure of the western liberal democracies to cope with the realities of the century."

In other words the incompetency of European diplomacy in the First World War period, supported by the Barnum and Bailey-esque dimension of American power and equal incompetency had landed the world in a moral-political quagmire of its own creation from which there was no escape.

In Mr. Lippmann's book, "Essays in the Public Philosophy", the needle of factual truth is hidden in the customary verbal haystack of sophistry. He blames liberal democracy, a lifeless concept, for the evil deeds of man who, in our time has acquired superman powers of destruction and descended to sub-human morality, as Albert Schweitzer describes the situation in his recent peace prize address.

If the people are incapable of evaluating international problems, why did governments find it advisable to condition and inflame their minds to passionate hatred against their fellow men so that they would travel thousands of miles to kill people of whose existence they were not even aware? It is we who have cunningly polluted the "Vox Populi, Vox Dei" into a sort of "Vox propagandae vox mendacis" where expertly trained liars brainwashed the people of their innate sense of ethics.

Did not Walter Lippmann serve his apprenticeship tapping out on a typewriter the famous Wilsonian Fourteen Points, in a Washington office, so that the "Open covenants Openly arrived at" and "Self Determination of Peoples" should effectively camouflage the secret treaties entered into at the beginning of First World War, giving Russia Constantinople and the Bosphorus, Italy to receive Trieste and other real estate from Austria, France to get Alsace-Lorraine "Without benefit of a Plebiscite."

Even now we are told that the secret treaties of Yalta have to be kept from the people for at least a decade lest it might incense the enlightened electorate of "Liberal Democracy." And to think, men died fighting for this "Open Covenants to be openly arrived at."

Here is Walter Lippmann's indictment of democracy in action: "Faced with the choices between hard and soft courses of action the normal propensity of democratic governments is to please the largest number of voters. The pressure of the electorate is normally for the less painful alternative. That is why governments are unable to cope with reality when elected assemblies and mass opinion become decisive in the state, when there are no statesmen to resist the inclination of the voters and there are only politicians to exile to exploit them."

"There is then a general tendency to be drawn downward as by the force of gravity towards insolvency, towards the insecurity of factuality, towards the erosion of liberty and towards hyperbolic wars."

This latter part is not only the height of illogic which becomes hyperbolic nonsense when we consider that wars are planned by heads of governments and camouflaged around them, not by the will of the people. It is the cost of wars which causes insolvency. The suspension of morality in times of war causes insecurity and mental confusion. Nearly all wars have been stupid in origin, futile in effect and have caused untold suffering.

Man endowed with reason has never used it all the way from the battle of Jericho to the police action in Korea. It is the hydrogen bomb and the primitive instinct of fear that will influence mankind's decision and thus change Foster Dulles' threat of massive retaliation to President Eisenhower's call to prayer meetings for peace, as happened last summer.—A. K.

Snark and Navaho

BY STEWART ALSOP, From Washington

WITHIN the last year there have been vitally important technological breakthroughs in the art of the long-range missile. These breakthroughs have made possible a sudden spurt of progress in the missile art—progress described as "fabulous" by one authority not given to exaggeration.

As a result, there are now serious plans for launching an artificial earth satellite, if possible in two years. But the breakthroughs have also brought nearer the time of the true push-button war—the time when one continent can inflict a murderous hail of nuclear destruction on another.

Clearly, the whole national future is bound up in our progress in the missile art. This report and another to follow will therefore be devoted to the basic facts about our long-range missile program. What follows has, incidentally, been vetted by competent authority to make sure that it contains nothing useful to Soviet intelligence.

The long-range missiles fall conveniently into three categories—the jet-powered pilotless aircraft, the ram jet, and the intercontinental ballistic missile, respectively known as SNARK, NAVAHO and ATLAS.

CRUISE OF THE SNARK

With SNARK we have put at last a big toe over the threshold of the age of the push-button war. SNARK has intercontinental range—5,000 miles. And Snark exists. The "bird"—to use the word of art of the missile men—has flown. The trouble is that it is not really a very useful war bird, although it is an impressive technical achievement.

SNARK—thirty-odd feet long, built by Northrup Aircraft—flies just under the speed of sound, which is barely lumbering along in the missile range. It flies high, over 50,000 feet, but not too high for the best Soviet fighters. A machine flying under the speed of sound on an undulating, trackable course over hundreds of miles of heavily defended enemy territory is hardly a sure thing to reach the target—even assuming that it could be guided to the target with absolute accuracy.

For such reasons, there is a minority view in the Pentagon that the attempt to develop SNARK as a war weapon should be abandoned. This view has been overruled. But it is clear that, even if SNARK were fully operational and in quantity production—which it is not—the main striking job would still have to be done by Gen. Curtis LeMay's Strategic Air Command.

SAC's job will soon be made easier, incidentally, by RASCAL, another missile name worth remembering. RASCAL is the short-range air-to-ground missile which will greatly complicate the task of the Soviet air defense.

With NAVAHO, we will step right over the threshold, into the age of the push-button war. NAVAHO is a ram jet and true guided missile—unlike its big brother ATLAS, it is guided all the way to the target, by the stars. Also unlike its big brother, it cannot leave the earth's surrounding envelope of air. It flies, or will fly, at 60,000 to 80,000 feet, and at slightly under three times the speed of sound.

This bird, too, has flown. At least, the air frame of NAVAHO has been air-tested. But there is a long way between testing an air frame and fitting the frame with ram jet engines capable of pushing both frame and warhead from one continent to another. Moreover, although there have been big breakthroughs in the guidance problem—the toughest in the missile art—the problem of bringing NAVAHO roaring down precisely on a target half a world away has by no means been solved.

OPERATIONAL IN THREE YEARS

Even so, an informed private guess is that NAVAHO could be made operational, given a major effort, within three years—this is not, it should be said, the official scheduling, which would, of course, interest Soviet intelligence. When NAVAHO is operational and in quantity production we will have taken a huge step forward in the missile art.

But NAVAHO will not be the final step. Even at three times the speed of sound, such a missile will give some warning of its approach. And a missile which travels within the atmosphere on an undulating course can be tracked, and it can very probably be brought down if not with existing weapons, with weapons of the future.

Moreover, since every pound of weight in the warhead sharply reduces the range of a ram jet, there is some doubt that NAVAHO will be able to carry a bulky hydrogen bomb for the distance required. For such reasons, NAVAHO is not the final decisive weapon.

The decisive weapon is ATLAS, the intercontinental ballistic missile, simply because there is no known defense whatsoever against an intercontinental ballistic missile. This is why the I.B.M., which will be described in another report on the long-range missiles, will finally determine the balance of power in the age of the push-button war, which is now almost upon us.

TRIVIA TRIUMPHANT

So keen and even extravagant is the interest in television that performers' changes in dress or ornament are faithfully reported in the popular papers. When Wilfrid Pickles was nipped on the finger by a performing mouse, his wound made front-page news. Appearances on a successful program like "What's My Line?" have been enough to make the ex-schoolmaster Gilbert Harding a celebrity earning more than £10,000 a year, besieged with offers to write for newspapers and open bazaars with a few choice insults, at a hundred guineas a time. For 30 years Sir Mortimer Wheeler, as soldier and archaeologist, has been distinguished and unknown. A few appearances on the academic quiz game, "Animal, Vegetable or Mineral?" and his face is as well known as Sir Anthony Eden's.

1,000 HUNT URANIUM IN BAKERSFIELD AREA

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UP)—A thousand fortune hunters fanned out over the high Sierra today in a frenzied search for uranium reminiscent of the gold fever of a century ago.

The rush was touched off Tuesday when the Atomic Energy Commission released its first uranium map of a far west area. The map showed three "hot spots" in the mountains about 30 miles east of Bakersfield.

Late Tuesday, the Kern County recorder's office reported that 130 uranium claims already had been filed. Hundreds more were expected to be filed today.

2nd Infantry Brigade Set for Europe Duty

Units Start Two-Year Hitch With NATO Next Fall; 1st Brigade Coming Home

OTTAWA (CP)—The 2nd Canadian Infantry Brigade will begin a two-year hitch with North Atlantic alliance forces in Germany this fall, the army announced Tuesday.

The 1st Brigade will have completed its two-year tour in October and, November this year.

More than 10,000 soldiers and thousands of dependents will be involved in the seasonal rotation of the brigades. Sailing dates have not yet been announced.

The 2nd Brigade with headquarters at Edmonton, is commanded by Brig. Roger Rowley, 40, of Ottawa and the 1st Brigade by Brig. W. A. B. Anderson, 39, of Ottawa and Montreal.

Brig. Rowley was commissioned in the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa in 1933 and by November, 1944, had risen to command of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders which he led through the fighting in northwest Europe.

Brig. Rowley took over command of the 2nd Brigade in December.

UNITS LISTED

Major units of the 2nd Brigade which will go to Germany are: 4th Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery; "A" Squadron, Royal Canadian Dragoons; the 1st Battalions of the Royal Canadian Regiment, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and Royal 22nd Regiment; 1st Field Squadron, Royal Canadian Engineers; No. 5 Transport Company, Army Service Corps; 4th Field Ambulance, Army Medical Corps; and 40th Infantry Workshop, Electrical and Mechanical Engineers.

Major units returning to Canada are: 2nd Regiment, RCA; "D" Squadron, Lord Strathcona's Horse; 2nd Battalions of the Royal Canadian Regiment, Princess Patricia's and Royal 22nd Regiment; 5th Field Squadron, RCE; No. 54 Transport Company, RCSC; 25th Field Ambulance, RCAMC; and 43rd Infantry Workshop, RCEME.

Hotel Guests Leave Mixed Lot Behind Them; Women are Worst

By TONY DICKASON

"Hexcuth me pleeth, but I think I loth my teef in your hotel!"

This is only one of the thome-what—s o m e w h a t—quaint queries received by the Empress Hotel, where people leave everything from baby bonuses to bottles, averaging 150 articles a month.

Women are the most forgetful of the sexes, says housekeeper Miss Gertrude Macauley, a cheery white-haired woman with 10 years' CPR service in the role of room overseer.

"They leave everything; earrings are a specialty; they leave gifts they have bought for friends; all kinds of clothing, and even garden seeds."

Guests are so forgetful they sometimes even lose their rooms and have to be straightened out as to where they belong at the front office.

Some people are careless and strew stuff all around their rooms. Others are pack-ratish and hide money under mattresses—and then forget it when they leave.

MONEY ALL CLAIMED

One of the maids recently found $300 under a mattress, wrapped in soiled brown paper. Then there was the time $500 was found in a pillow case. All money was eventually claimed.

Men are also forgetful—but usually of hats and coats. They take other persons' hats or coats. "and this happens all the time," Miss Macauley says.

Sequence is that when a guest checks out, the room maid checks drawers, under the bed, cupboards and behind the door for anything that may be left. If anything, it is turned in to Miss Macauley. The guest is then contacted and the lost article forwarded.

In her decade of hotel work, the housekeeper said "I've never come across a maid I've mistrusted in these matters. There has never been the slightest bit of trouble." There are 85 housekeepers and maids on the staff of the 576-room Empress.

One quaint instance arose a short time ago. A man checked in to his room without luggage. But he did have a bottle of liquor. He went out briefly, and the maid popped in. She thought the room was empty and the bottle left. So she took it to the housekeeper.

But Lushwell had just gone down the hall to pick up a friend. He wrathfully demanded the return of his bottle—which was promptly brought back.

He's a good customer today. Just shows up with a bottle, as usual.

All articles found are kept for six months to a year if the guest can't be located. This happens when a camera, for instance, is found in the lobby and there is no way of tracking down its owner.

If articles aren't claimed, they are turned over to persons who found them, or given to charity.

A maid recently found a diamond and sapphire cigarette case, and of course brought it to the housekeeper.

The grateful owner gave her a $25 reward.

GOOD ADVICE TO THOSE Who Suffer With Piles

Here is good advice to hundreds of persons who silently endure untold pain and misery from piles. You probably do not realize that sheer neglect on your part may be the reason for this nagging personal discomfort.

It is a fact that pain, itching and soreness of piles are greatly increased by constipation. Bowel action is sluggish—intestinal wastes harden—straining at stool bruises delicate rectal membranes. When this happens pile conditions are aggravated and discomfort increases.

Now, quick relief is offered you with Hem-Roid INTERNAL Pile Treatment. (small tablets taken with water). This gently persistent medicine helps break up and smoothly pass off intestinal wastes, —helps shrink piles and permits them to heal. With the very first use of Hem-Roid you get quick relief, through effective INTERNAL action. That is why an internal medicine like Hem-Roid is so satisfactory to use—why hundreds here written their thanks for making Hem-Roid available to them.

Why suffer needlessly when Hem-Roid offers you such quick and pleasing relief? Ask at any drug store for Hem-Roid. Get 30 full days supply at a surprisingly low cost. Test this grand medicine today. Take steps now to relieve your pile suffering with clean, easy and pleasant to use Hem-Roid. Money back if not delighted.

No New Policy In His Speech Says Pearson

Answers Critic
John Diefenbaker

OTTAWA (BUP)—External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson denied in the Commons Tuesday he made "any pronouncement of policy" in stating Monday that it would be "unthinkable" for Canada to stay neutral if the United States went to war.

John Diefenbaker, the opposition's foreign affairs critic, asked Pearson why he chose to make the policy statement outside parliament. He also asked if Pearson meant to imply that if the United States became involved in a war with Red China over the issue of Quemoy and Matsu this country could not remain neutral.

"I said nothing I haven't already said in this house and elsewhere," Pearson said.

He quoted excerpts from his Toronto speech:

"I think that the neutrality of either of us, if the other were engaged in a major war in which its very existence were at stake, would be unthinkable. Our position in this regard is something that we should never forget when we say, and correctly, that certain United States commitments, those, for instance, covering help to Chiang Kai-Shek in Formosa and certain Chinese coastal islands, have not been accepted by us."

"But that is not the same thing as saying that they may not involve us. And certainly not the same thing as saying that they do not concern us."

Morse Says Sea Law Blocks Action by U.S.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The United States 7th Fleet has no right under international law to stop a Finnish tanker bound for Communist China with a cargo of kerosene suitable for jet fuel, Senator Wayne Morse (Dem.-Ore.) said here.

The Senate Republican leader, Senator William Knowland of California, earlier said that if other means fail, the fleet should intercept the tanker to keep the 13,000 tons of kerosene from reaching the Chinese Communists.

Town Planners' Course At Toronto Varsity

TORONTO (BUP)—Canadian communities will soon have a place to train town planners with the opening of a division of town planning in the school of architecture at the University of Toronto.

University president Sidney Smith announced today the new one-year diploma course will start next September. The course will be open to students holding a bachelor's degree in allied fields.

Smallman Freed By Ont. Court

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Court of Appeal today quashed a conviction of robbery and freed John Leonard Smallman, 21, heir to a fortune reported to have made him Canada's richest young man.

Smallman was convicted of robbery with violence last fall and sentenced to 18 months. The case involved a $41 robbery.

Boy Grabs $54 From Busy BCE Bus Driver

MAILLARDVILLE, B.C. (BUP)—Maillardville police have detained a 14-year-old boy for two hours after he had stolen a bus driver's bag containing $54.

B.C. Electric bus driver John Grace was handling change for a passenger when the boy reached down and grabbed the bag. Grace pursued the youth, who disappeared in the dark. He was later found in a taxi with only $11.61, and was not able to account for the remainder of the money. The boy was released to his parents.

Duke of Kent's Newest Date Is Flower Girl

LONDON (AP)—A gossip columnist for the Sunday Express says the Duke of Kent, 19-year-old cousin of Queen Elizabeth, is shining up to a flower girl.

The item says the duke has been dining and dancing with blonde Mary Williamson, 20, who sells flowers in a Bend Street hotel. The columnist says Miss Williamson already has learned three rules that all the young duke's companions have mastered:

1. "Don't call me 'Eddy.' Call me 'Edward'."
2. Teach him the latest dance steps.
3. Talk about fast cars.

'Mademoiselle's' Originator Dies

SUTTON, Eng. (Reuters)—Edward C. H. Rowland, 72, who wrote the First World War song, "Mademoiselle From Armentieres," has died here.

A waitress in an Armentieres cafe, where he was sitting one day in March, 1915, trying to think up a bright number for a troop show, inspired the song. Rowland wrote the lyric in half an hour and a Canadian friend, Lieut. Gitz Rice, set it to music.

He sang the song for the first time at the show the same night—and it brought the house down. Rowland did not make a penny out of his song. He did not take out a copyright.

Sask. Farmers' Union President Resigns

SASKATOON (CP)—The head of the 100,000-member Saskatchewan Farmers' Union announced his resignation today after a dispute with the union's executive over the appointment of a secretary.

Fred Woloshyn of North Battleford was elected president just three months ago, succeeding Joe Phelps, who stepped down after five years' service.

U.S. MAY USE ATOM WEAPONS DULLES WARNS

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State Dulles served notice on would-be aggressors today that small tactical atomic weapons probably would be used if the United States becomes involved in serious military action anywhere.

He warned at the same time that Red China will not be immune from retaliatory attacks on military targets on its home grounds if it adopts a policy of open war.

The four muscle men will meet in an Australian tag team match for the main event. Program opens at 8.30.

King Ready Again; No Longer Trial Horse

TORONTO (CP)—As Arthur King recalls it, he was like Williams' receptionist.

Williams was lightweight champion at the time Lili Arthur headed for the U.S. with high hopes of grabbing the title.

The trouble was that Arthur's new manager was Blinky Palermo of Philadelphia, who also held Williams' contract. And athletic commissions frown on stablemates getting together in the ring.

"I became Williams' policeman," King recalled Monday. "I'd fight guys who were in line for a shot at the title. If they beat me, they were liable to get a title fight. But I beat most of them."

"Finally I got around to fighting welters for lack of lightweight competition. Now, Palermo has the world welter champion in Johnny Saxton. Where does that leave me?"

LOTS OF CONFIDENCE

For the time being, at least, King must come under the heading of a former top-ranking lightweight but his first challenge to the boxing fraternity in many months didn't lack in confidence.

"I'll take on any lightweight in the world," said Lili Arthur, who has completed the circle since he joined Palermo in 1948. He reported his Palermo contract has been purchased by Max Orgell, the Toronto manager who sold it in the first place after getting him started as a pro in 1946.

The 27-year-old King said he hasn't fought in 16 months because of a hand injury. He said he fractured a bone in the little finger of his left hand in the third round of a 10-round fight he lost to Eddie Chavez in San Francisco.

Three-Way Deadlock In Curling

WINNIPEG (CP)—A pair of victories by Saskatchewan and a win and a loss each by Manitoba and Alberta Tuesday left the western Canada women's curling championship in a three-way first-place tie at the end of five rounds of play.

Each team has won three and lost two games. British Columbia trails with one win and four losses. Final round will be played Wednesday morning with Saskatchewan meeting B.C. and Manitoba playing Alberta.

A light rock by Manitoba's skip, Mrs. Ethel Wright of Flin Flon, in the final end spelled defeat. Saskatchewan was leading 9-7 when Manitoba had a two-count in the house. However, the Saskatchewan skip, Mrs. Fred Olson of Prince Albert, took one rock out and Mrs. Wright's light rock failed to score.

The Alberta rink, skipped by Mrs. Graham Morton of Calgary, recovered in the final three ends to defeat the British Columbia entry of Mrs. Mary de Girolamo of Nelson, B.C., was leading 7-5 at the end of the ninth round when Alberta scored once in the 10th, four in the 11th and two in the 12th without a reply.

In fourth-round play Tuesday morning, Manitoba defeated B.C. 12-3 and Saskatchewan downed Alberta 15-10.

Bruce Carries Canada's Colors

MEXICO CITY (CP)—A young Canadian sprinter who collects jazz records and wants to be a dentist today faced a task at the Pan-American Games considerably tougher than pulling teeth.

Bruce Springbett of Vancouver easily qualified for the finals of the 200-metre dash Tuesday along with five speedsters from the United States, Trinidad and Brazil. But his time was the slowest.

Springbett and Jack Smyth of St. Boniface, Man., entered in the hop, step and jump, were Canada's main hopes to win a gold medal today.

14 CHAMPIONSHIPS

Of the 20 championships decided so far, the United States has won 14, Argentina four and Cuba and Panama, one each.

Tuesday Arnold Sowell of Pittsburgh upset Olympic champion Mal Whitfield in the 800-metre run. Sowell, just 19 and skinny as a reed, put on a tremendous spurt in the stretch to clip teammate Lon Spurrier in 1:49.7, a game record. Whitfield faded badly and finished fourth.

Fortune Gordien, the world's record-holder in the discus, and Rev. Bob Richards, greatest of the modern pole vaulters, captured their events to give the U.S. eight of the 10 men's track and field championships to date. The Americans finished 1-2-3 in the pole vault.

The only man to crack the U.S. superiority was Oswaldo Suarez, the tireless Argentine who added the 5,000-metre crown to the 10,000-metre championship he took Sunday. Suarez won a stirring stretch duel with Horace Ashenfelter, the U.S. Olympic steeplechase champion, in 15 minutes, 30.6 seconds. Springbett was clocked in 21.9 seconds in the semi-finals after he did 22.6 in the preliminary heats.

BRAZILIAN SETS RECORD

Heading the select field was Jose Telex de Conceicao, of Brazil, who set a games record of 20.8 seconds to qualify.

Springbett, 22-year-old pre-medical student at the University of Oregon, finished second in each of his qualifying dashes, but two fellow Canadians were less fortunate. Dick Harding of Toronto was eliminated in the semi-finals when he came in fifth after a second place in his preliminary heat.

Harry Nelson of New Westminster, B.C., also placed second in his heat in the opening eliminations but was disqualified for running out of his lane. Canada's only point winner Tuesday was John Pavell, of New Westminster, who placed sixth in the discus with a throw of 123 feet 3 inches.

Gordien won the event with a toss of 174 feet 2 1/2 inches.

The women basketballers, Vancouver Ellers, lost their second straight games, 52-48, to Chile, and their chances of winning the double round-robin tournament among five countries were dim.

Canadian Skaters Keep Pairs' Title

REGINA (CP)—Canada retained the pairs title but was trailing badly in three other events to be decided today at the North American figure skating championships.

Frances Dafoe, blithe 25-year-old, and Norris Bowden, 28-year-old insurance agent, captured their second straight North American pairs title by defeating four other entries, three from the U.S.

Miss Dafoe and Bowden, both of Toronto, put on a dazzling display of split jumps, stag lifts, spread eagles and axle jumps, adding the variations which earned them their second world title at Vienna last month.

Tenley Albright, 19, of the Skating Club of Boston, and 21-year-old Hayes Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo., were far ahead in the singles, the main events. Both are world champions and are defending North American honors won in 1953, the last year the championships were held.

OTTAWA GIRL LAST

Carol Jane Pachl, 17, of Ottawa, the sole Canadian entry in women's singles, was last on the basis of points after completion of compulsory figures counting 60 per cent of possible points. Charles Snelling, 18, of Toronto, Canadian senior champion, was third in men's singles.

Metropolitan Badminton Champs Named

The badminton team of Doug Robinson and Arthur Shellcross scored identical 15-9, 15-9 victories to take the George Robinson Trophy from Don Walker and Harold Larson at the Metropolitan Badminton Club tournament finals Monday night at the church gymnasium.

Rita Robinson and Bernice Osborne scored a 15-6, 15-8 victory over Ester Bertelsen and Nora Wolfe to capture the F. W. Francis Trophy.

The mixed doubles final proved to be the most exciting contest of the evening with Doug Robinson and Dorothy Carr defeating Ester Bertelsen and Ted Hartland 15-10, 15-6, for the Henry Birks Trophy.

Rev. Laura Butler presented the trophies to the winning teams.

ANGLERS' MEETING

Palmer, who won the city title here Saturday with a 4,510, 24-game total, will represent Victoria in the provincial 24-game roll-off over three Vancouver alleys.

Champions from six zones will be competing for the right to continue on to Toronto and the Canadian championship.

They will roll three eight-game shifts—Friday at 4 p.m. at Pender; Saturday at 3 p.m. at Circle, and Sunday at 3 p.m. at Seymour.

Winner of the series will win a final berth into the Dominion playoff, with the victor in that class being flown to Fort Wayne, Indiana, to compete in the American Bowling Congress annual pin-meet.

Palmer Sets Sights On B.C. Tenpin Title

Having the Victoria zone tenpin singles championship neatly tucked under his belt, veteran Andy Palmer will be shooting for bigger game this weekend when he competes in the B.C. championship at Vancouver.

Palmer, who won the city title here Saturday with a 4,510, 24-game total, will represent Victoria in the provincial 24-game roll-off over three Vancouver alleys.

Champions from six zones will be competing for the right to continue on to Toronto and the Canadian championship.

They will roll three eight-game shifts—Friday at 4 p.m. at Pender; Saturday at 3 p.m. at Circle, and Sunday at 3 p.m. at Seymour.

Winner of the series will win a final berth into the Dominion playoff, with the victor in that class being flown to Fort Wayne, Indiana, to compete in the American Bowling Congress annual pin-meet.

The B.C. titlist will have all expenses paid for the trip to Toronto.

Tuesday night in Gibson's Senior Tenpin League, Palmer warmed up for coming provincial action with a 233 single and 582 triple.

But he had to share a major portion of the spotlight with Bill Norris, who set the pace with singles of 185, 225 and 203 for a 614 total.

Other highs were rolled by Connie McBeth, 574; Wilbur Webb, 566; Jack Hobby, 565, and George Brown at 562.

McBeth, 232; Brown, 223; Hobby, 209; George Motion, 207; Webb, 202; Fred Welsh, 200, and Jack Bacon, 200, shot-leading singles.

In major women's action, Elta Shaw was tops with a 504 series, while Tess Kamann checked in at 185 single and 497 total.

In fivepin action at Capital City, Harry Cool was the big man with triples of 903 and 715, followed by Bus Stoddart, 811; Blondie Robinson, 756; Roy Jago, 750; John Schapan-sky, 742; Don Corbett, 732; Mary Chayko, 722, 719; Cy Wallis, 721; Bill Peterson and Bob Elliott, 706, and Ted Bowcott, Wilfr Smith and May Wallis, 703.

Daryl Baker, 836; D. Jenkins, 788; Buzz Long, 724, and John Latham, 713, led Gibson's small-ball artists.

Campbell River Commissioner Exonerated

Acted in Good Faith on Gravel Contract, Inspector Reports

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP)—Commissioner Sydney Waterfield has been cleared of a charge made by a fellow commissioner that he acted illegally in awarding a contract for the purchase of gravel for the village.

FOAM FLOODS BUSY FIREMAN

PORT ALBERNI, B.C. (CP)—A car full of foam was Walter Melnik's reward for quick action to help extinguish an early-morning fire in an apartment.

Mr. Melnik, answering an alarm by Mrs. Marie Jacobson when she discovered a fire in an upholstered chair, rushed to the fire hall with his car and picked up a foam extinguisher. On his way back to the apartment, something went wrong—the extinguisher released and filled the car with foam, forcing out the driver.

Firemen, alerted by Mr. Melnik, arrived behind him and put out the blaze. Fire damage was confined to the chair and a wall.

Single Fatality

VANCOUVER (CP)—One man died and 324 were injured in British Columbia timber operations during February, the workmen's Compensation Board reported Monday. The totals were gathered from logging and lumber milling operations.

DOREEN FORRESTER

LOOM KEPT BUSY

Weaving Handiwork Full-Time Pursuit

SOOKE—A hobby that has become a full-time occupation is the weaving begun five years ago by Doreen Forrester, Sasenenos.

She uses a Gilmore loom—sometimes called the grand piano of looms—that she bought on the mainland, and took two or three lessons to learn how to set up the warp. The rest of her skill was acquired through extensive reading on the subject and experience with yarns.

She can weave material up to 45 inches in width and in lengths up to 80 yards.

Most of her work has been the custom production of place mats in various styles and designs that are sold through retail outlets in Victoria, Vancouver, Toronto and Montreal. She also weaves yard goods for suits, coats, skirts, towels, stoles, scarves and so forth.

Last summer she opened up a craft shop and sold, in addition to her weaving, hand-made pottery and driftwood novelties. She expects that filling retail orders will keep her at her loom steadily from now on. If she opens her shop this summer it will be for the sale of fabrics exclusively.

She is not the only weaver in the family. Her husband, finding that weaving was interesting as well as profitable, built his own loom for widths up to 36 inches. He completed it in a month and will be producing shortly.

Belmont High School Actors Will Aid Burned-Out Family

LANGFORD—"The Courting of Marie Jenvrin," staged by Belmont High School and one of the three honor plays chosen at the Greater Victoria Drama Festival, will be presented Friday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Belmont Junior-Senior High School, Station Road.

The public will be invited, and all proceeds will go towards the fund being raised to assist the Minckler family whose Latoria Road home was destroyed by fire Monday afternoon.

Pickets Back At Newspaper

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—The off-again-on-again picket line at the West Coast Advocate newspaper was resumed this week when ITO member J. Greenwood and another picket supplied by local I-85, IWA, appeared with their placards after several days' absence.

The line was removed two or three times since a strike on the plant began Jan. 13 following failure of publisher Irving Wilson to sign a contract.

The contract has since been signed but picketing was restored after the Nanaimo Typographical Union local announced the dispute had been declared a lockout because of failure of the employer to observe contract terms. Greenwood, one of two union members formerly employed by the Advocate, said picketing would continue until the shop is fully unionized or until publisher Irving Wilson announced intention of operating on a non-union basis.

High school students will have tickets for sale.

The one-act comedy was directed by Mrs. P. Dulmage of the school teaching staff. Gail Thomson, who played Marie, won second place in scoring for top acting awards, and Dennis Gavin received a certificate of merit for his part.

Red Cross Flies Medical Team to Premature Baby

LADYSMITH—The premature daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Eugene, Diamond district, was "doing fine" in St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, according to latest reports from the mainland.

On Monday a seaplane, chartered in Vancouver by the Red Cross, brought a doctor, two nurses and a portable incubator to Ladysmith to take the infant back to the mainland.

She was born Saturday at Ladysmith General Hospital and weighed only one pound 10½ ounces.

$1,080,000 School By-Law Set For Vote

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—A $1,080,000 building program for School District 70 has been approved and plans have been sent to the government for final approval.

Subject to cabinet approval, money by-laws will be put to the ratepayers April 21 to sanction raising of local share of the expenditure.

Four sites to be purchased and development of grounds at various schools in the district will account for $40,500 of the total cost.

Main projects in the program are a $520,000, 16-room junior high; a 10-room elementary school in Calgary district, $212,000, and a four-room primary school at the south end of Port Alberni, $90,000.

Port Alberni Council Deaf To 'Found-Ins'

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Delegation of a dozen men who were arrested as "innates of a common gaming house," appeared at a council meeting and were told that aldermen could not listen.

Mayor Loran Jordan warned the group before the spokesman stood up to speak that "if you are here for the reason I think you are, we cannot listen to you."

As L. Smith mentioned the incident of the arrest last Friday night, he was interrupted and told that discussion of the matter at this time might prejudice the court case.

Cowichan Group Protests Overhead Transmission Line

DUNCAN—Erection of a transmission line from Mount Maxwell on Salt Spring Island to Maple Mountain on Vancouver Island will be protested by South Cowichan Ratepayers' Association as a menace to aviation.

Protests will be sent to the department of transport and B.C. Electric.

The latter plans to run a transmission cable from the mainland to Vancouver Island under water, but considered spanning Sansum Narrows, between the two peaks, with an overhead connection. Span is three-quarters of a mile.

Clr. George Whitaker of North Cowichan told the association that this particular route is heavily traveled by private aircraft on flights to Quamichan Lake, Maple Bay and Somenos Lake, and that Pacific Western Airlines uses the route to serve the Cowichan Valley.

According to information given at the meeting, held in Cobble Hill, the line would drop to within 200 feet of the surface of the water. This would constitute a hazard at all times, and especially during foggy weather, it was claimed.

CD Evacuation Plans Wanted

District Representatives to Demand Action by Higher Level Governments

A three-point demand by local authorities to set in motion a Greater Victoria evacuation plan will be sent to the provincial government, Greater Victoria Civil Defense Control Board decided Tuesday.

The step was the first decisive act of the control board toward obtaining an evacuation plan since the federal government hinted two years ago that evacuation is the only known way to combat atomic explosions in populated areas. Today, particularly since the advent of the H-bomb, evacuation is federal government policy, and this year a team of experts, partly financed by Ottawa, will assist Calgary and Vancouver to establish their own evacuation schemes.

THREE MAIN POINTS

The local demand, representing Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and adjacent unorganized territory, will ask the province to:

1. Set the specific areas to receive persons evacuated from Greater Victoria;
2. Provide food, clothing and shelter at these sites for those evacuated;
3. Study the Calgary evacuation September 15 and forward information to Victoria as soon as possible.

The last previous attempt to arrive at a plan to clear the city in the event of disaster was last November 12, when a committee was appointed to study possible plans. It met about a week later without results and hasn't met since. "What I am aiming at is a little action or a reconstitution of the committee," W. B. Cole, View Royal delegate, said in pointing out the lack of local organization.

WOULD FACE ISSUE

Victoria delegate Ald. Brent Murdoch said the existing committee should turn in a report stating whether or not evacuation for this area is possible, or else turn the entire matter over to Ottawa.

"I won't come to any more of these meetings to hear this discussed," he said.

This attitude was echoed by deputy-chairman S. W. Brock, who said: "Let's go the whole way and if it is a flop, it's a flop."

"If civil defense is a problem, then I'm a monkey's uncle," Ald. Robert McMillan put in a little later. And to this was added a further remark by Ald. Murdoch: "You know my feeling: I think civil defense is the greatest farce perpetrated by any government. It is the responsibility of the federal government to set down evacuation plans."

Reeve R. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt had earlier expressed: "To think we can evacuate the people of Victoria into the country is fantastic."

CHILDREN PROBLEM

A preliminary step to evacuation would be the finger-printing of all school children in the area, Ald. Murdoch said. "You just can't pick up thousands of children and take them out of the city. You need parents' permission too," he said there must be room found for 120,000 persons.

During the course of discussion, Ald. Murdoch admitted he didn't know what to do in the event of an air raid alarm. "How many citizens know?" he

TOT UNHURT, FALLS INTO FURNACE PIPE

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP)—Fast action by a young mother today saved her year-old son from possible asphyxiation after he had crashed down a 14-inch cold air pipe leading to the furnace in their home.

Mrs. Jack Daly, who said she was so excited she "could have ripped the furnace apart," raced to the basement and kicked the pipe apart to free her son.

Mrs. Daly said the boy crawled three feet down to the elbow of the pipe after his sister, Donna, two, lifted a grating from the floor. He got stuck in the elbow and started to cry.

Boy, 6, Killed —But His Eyes Will Live On

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—About two months ago six-year-old Gregory Masters watched a corneal transplant operation performed on a television program.

"After I die," Gregory told his mother, "my eyes won't be any good to me. I want them to go to some poor little boy who can't see."

Gregory was killed Monday. He was struck by an automobile in front of his home in the nearby town of Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Masters donated his eyes to the Buffalo Eye Bank and Research Society.

Fair Raises $5,000 For National Ballet

TORONTO (CP)—More than $5,000 was raised to aid the National Ballet Company of Canada at the second annual fun fair here during the week-end. Betty Elphinstone, president of the Canadian Dance Teachers Association, said Monday the figures show the objective was exceeded.

Rainmaker Off to West Coast Hopes to Avert Power Brownout

By DON INGHAM

John Walser, California rainmaker, left for Vancouver Island's west coast Tuesday with six silver iodide generators with which he hopes to induce greater precipitation over the Campbell River watershed for the B.C. Power Commission.

His first responsibility is to increase the snowpack, and therefore the water storage, in the watershed to help keep the thirsty turbines at John Hart hydro development turning.

The commission hopes, though, for some immediate relief in the form of rain to avert a looming "brown-out" on Vancouver Island.

HOW THEY WORK

And how do a few gadgets that look like out-of-date garbage burners produce rain?

"We release particles of silver iodide into the atmosphere, that rise to upper levels," Mr. Walser said. "They are crystals of hexagonal shape, and sufficiently like ice crystals to fool super-cooled water droplets in clouds into using them as the nuclei of snowflakes."

"The flakes grow until they fall. If the weather is warm, they melt and reach the ground as rain," he said.

He ran into a bit of customs trouble on the week-end, and has decided to make other generators he might need in Canada.

Mr. Walser, a quiet-spoken meteorologist, is head of the evaluation division of North American Weather Consultants, of Altadena, Calif., and has taken part in all of its projects.

RESULTS PREDICTABLE

His firm works almost exclusively for utility companies and has brought rain-making from a rite conducted by chanting medicine men to a coldly-calculated business in which certain results can be expected.

"We have proved that we can increase precipitation by from 20 to 30 per cent on the average," he said. "It varies, though. At one location we increased precipitation by 90 per cent—on another, only five."

Mr. Walser says that his firm only extracts additional moisture from existing clouds, therefore is not a "rainmaker." "We can't yet make clouds," he said. "Only Mother Nature can do that."

(A) "TROUBLE IN THE GLEN" (Royal): Even the lowliest Sassenach should enjoy this light-hearted spot of trouble in a Highland glen. But if his soul contains a mite of fey and he can understand a sick little girl's yearning for shining knights and an open road to Camelot then so much the better.

A beautifully told and enacted piece this. The wicked Scot burr, the dour, porridge-fed faces and stubborn stands on things that could only matter in the glen all make bleak comparison as the camera's sweetly ranges over the gorgeous Scottish countryside like some master painter, catching the beauty of the loch beneath the poachers' moon, the crags and hills, the gorse and heather under a slow-smiling sun.

THE TROUBLE ALL starts when Laird Orson Welles (who is about as Scottish as Dublin) glumly plays and loses a bra' fush in the loch and incurs the unforgiving wrath of one of his workmen. Outraged by the burr of the Scot and before he knows it he has his entire staff resigning in resentment. In stiff-necked rage he then closes the road to the village and the glen smoulders in something akin to civil war.

MEANWHILE, IN THE village, American Forrest Tucker arrives to visit his polo-ridden daughter, young Margaret McCourt. Tucker's wife was killed shortly after the baby was born and he left her with his sister-in-law and her husband. The sick child thinks they are her parents and sees in Tucker her Sir Lancelot, her knight errant who will open up the "road to Camelot" again so she can watch the villagers pass by her sick room window.

IN AN EFFORT TO BRING about a reconciliation between the Laird and the villagers, Tucker visits him and so meets the Laird's daughter Margaret Lockwood. It is here that "Trouble in the Glen" has some of its funniest scenes. Among them: The daughter steals his trews while he is swimming in the loch. Later, he steals her prize fish while she is enjoining her companions to come and witness her fine catch. But daughter or no, the fight between the villagers and their Laird rages on.

Standing head and shoulders among the Laird's foes is Victor ("The Quiet Man") McLaghen and his son Malcolm (John McCallum). The two would dynamite the road, steal the cattle and cause much woe between the warring factions.

But as good as they all are it is wee Margaret McCourt who will remain in the heart longest. Her enactment of the paralyzed child who wants to be a ballet dancer will undoubtedly match anything any child actor will produce this year.

Jean Manly, Kenny Lee Tops In Religious Drama Festival

By PETER MATTHEWS

Jean Manly, for her portrayal of the role of the boy Stepan in "Babousca," and Kenny Lee, for his work as Pedro in "The Man Who Played Judas," were winners of the best actor and best actress awards in the religious drama festival held Monday and Tuesday by the Victoria Presbyterian United Church young people.

In making the wards, adjudicator Vivienne Chadwick gave honorable mention to Nora Wolfe, who played the evangel in Tuesday night's presentation of "The Challenge of the Cross," by Metropolitan YPU.

Winning play was "The Man Who Played Judas," presented Monday by the Chinese United-St. Aidan's group and directed by Mrs. J. L. Clerihue. Winners will go to Vancouver March 26 to compete in the province-wide festival of United Church youth groups.

The local festival was concluded Tuesday evening with the Metropolitan presentation, directed by the Rev. Laura Butler, and "The High Way," a play by the combined young people of Shawmigan nited Church and St. John's, Cobble Hill.

CLEAR DICTION

"The High Way" won praise for the spirit and movement of the actors and the natural setting, but lost points for missed lines and lack of polish. Mrs. Chadwick advised more practice; the play would repay more work.

An appreciative audience gave an ovation to two young soloists, Fernie Rath, who played two Chopin waltzes, and vocalist David Mar, who delighted the crowd with "Sea Fever" and "The Bells of San Marie."

Big Balloon Parade Set

A contingent of giants from Newark, New Jersey, is definitely slated to appear in the Victoria Day parade to be staged here Monday, May 23.

The giants — actually huge rubber balloons — have been booked by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, which has agreed to stage this year's parade.

There will be 18 in all; most more than eight feet high and some 80 feet long. In addition to such popular figures as Snow White, the Seven Dwarfs, Popeye and friends, the unit will include a dragon, sea serpent and octopus.

The balloons are used expressly for parades and are rented by Giant Balloon Parades Inc., of Newark. The bill to bring them to Victoria will run to about $3,000.

Business firms are being asked to contribute toward meeting this expense.

CITIES SCORED FOR LACK OF SUPPORT FOR THEATRE

VANCOUVER (BUP)—British drama festival adjudicator Andre Van Gysegem said here Tuesday that small towns are keeping Canadian theatre alive.

The 48-year-old actor-producer who has been adjudicating regional drama festivals across the nation said that small-town support is so good it "sizzles."

He termed "disgraceful" the lack of support for theatre work in the big cities.

He said the shortage of Canadian plays is "shocking." He said he has only seen three native productions in the nine festivals he has attended so far.

Movie Stars Named In Jelke Vice Trial

By CLAUDE COX

NEW YORK (UP)—Defense counsel in the Jelke vice trial claimed Tuesday that pint-sized actor Mickey Rooney once entertained call girl Pat Ward in a New York hotel suite and then promised to take her to California with him.

The defense said actor John Carradine also entertained Miss Ward long before she ever met vice trial defendant Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke.

The names of the two actors and three cafe society men came out at Jelke's re-trial on charges of compulsory prostitution.

Chief defense attorney George Washington Herz insisted Miss Ward hit the primrose path long before she ever met Jelke. "She had no desire to work and thought she had a sucker in Rooney. Rooney promised to take her to California and so she quit her job. But Rooney went to California alone."

In Hollywood, Rooney hotly denied he had ever entertained Miss Ward alone. He said the trial was "a big hunk of nothing." He met Miss Ward at a cocktail party, he said, and she "behaved like a lady."

Miss Ward, wearing a jumper-type dress, arrived at the courthouse clutching a book by Leo Tolstoy entitled, "What Men Live By."

After she was called to testify, she balked once at giving the names of the men with whom she had been involved. Later she wept after she testified she was intimate with a man who then gave her $50.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver city council's budget-slashing campaign has failed to bridge the deficit, finance chairman Ald. J. W. Cornett said today. He said the council will "probably have to increase the mill rate." City hall spokesmen predict a two-or-three-mill boost in the offing.

For best selection, shop in person!

See our display in the rug department... on the Bay's Home Furnishings Floor, 4th, and in our Douglas Street windows.

No need to envy others; now YOU can afford the regal beauty and lasting luxury of rugs that add prestige to your home!

You've admired rugs like these in the lovely homes of others; you've studied the exquisite colors in the hand-hooked patterns, the superb workmanship by the patient fingers of skilled Oriental craftsmen, the plush lasting resilience of the luxurious all-wool yarn. But you probably thought that such impressive beauty was beyond your budget. Well, let's figure it out. An ordinary 9'x12' wool rug would cost at least $95 (7.95 per sq. yd., average quality broadloom).

Yet, when you invest only 77.50 in these hand-hooked imports, you get extra dividends of unique charm and simple elegance that transform your home into one of envied individuality. You must see these rugs to fully appreciate their value. Notice the delicate blues, greens, beiges, rose, greys... artistically combined to enhance any color scheme.

You'll marvel at the carefully planned, intricately woven patterns that, without calling attention to themselves, add importance to your entire room... no matter what your period of decor. See these treasures at the Bay Thursday; choose YOURS... and start to take new pride in a more beautiful home that suggests extravagance rather than the savings you made!

Take advantage of these low prices, made possible only by the careful planning and patient bargaining of our overseas buyers

The enthusiastic response of Victorians to our first offer of these imported rugs inspired us to contact our Buying Office in Hong Kong with instructions to begin bargaining for another shipment. We ordered the most popular sizes... in favored colors and patterns... and stressed that the same low prices must hold! We were determined to satisfy disappointed customers who, due to the speedy sell-out, missed out before. Our buyers came through!... the rugs have arrived, and they meet every rigid test for value! Colors and patterns are lovelier than ever, quality and workmanship are the finest, prices even lower than those that thrilled home-makers last year! See these rugs in our rug department, 4th... and in our Douglas Street windows. Your appreciation of quality will immediately convince you that they are far from ordinary... that they represent one of Victoria's best rug values in years!

Choose from room-size rugs and mats designed to enhance any part of your home with beauty and comfort... at little cost!

Whether you're looking for a living-room or bedroom rug... or a mat for the hallway... you'll find the size you need in our hand-picked collection. Plan to buy several of your favorites while the prices are so low. Enjoy them all in your home now... with only one down payment. For purchases totaling $15 or more, pay 10% (min. $5) down, balance monthly. Enquire at the accounts office, 4th... or Information Centre, main.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Just one darn paragraph after another:

There couldn't possibly be any connection between Mr. Chant's seeing the light on re-distribution and Mr. Chant's appointment as a cabinet minister. Could there?

Capt. Oliver J. Williams has once again raised the question of Wednesday half-day closing in Victoria. Capt. Williams, like so many other who are interested in the tourist business, is against Wednesday half-day closing.

So am I.
What I am in favor of is, Wednesday half-day opening. If all stores remained closed all week, except for the Wednesday half-day opening, there would no longer be a slump in business in the middle of the week.

The Wednesday half-day opening plan is even better than Between Times previous suggestions for a five-day week-end and double-time for under-time.

The Victoria Aquarium Society plans to view a film to-night entitled "The Culture of Live Shrimps as Fish Food." This goes to show how Aquarium-type people pamper fish.

Plain, ordinary live shrimps aren't good enough for fish food, they have to be cultured, yet.

It took only one look across Juan de Fuca Strait this morning to convince the most ardent isolationist Mike Pearson was right when he said Canada is dependent on the United States.

In this area, at least, we have a definitely favorable balance of trade—scenically speaking.

Sudden thought: is a man who yawns at nature's beauty a scenic cynic?

If the CPR doesn't mind a suggestion, I would think it a splendid idea to have the new Princess of Vancouver stop here on her way to the mainland.

At least let Victoria have a look at the type of transportation to which we'll never become accustomed.

One of the lads in the office is suffering from hay fever, but wants no sympathy from anyone. Says he's having it now, instead of August, when he usually has it, because he's going on holidays in August, and it's no fun having hay fever on your holidays, so . . .

How did I get involved in that one? Gesundheit.

A capacity audience was on hand for an Eastern Star choir recital at the Naval Veterans' Hall Tuesday night.

The recital was in aid of the Cancer Dressing Station. Conductor was Mrs. Georgina Watt, accompanist was Mrs. Gertrude Buckler.

Guest artists were vocalists Harry and Thelma Johns, accompanied by Dorothy Gough. Other performers were Gwen Downes, Donna Easton, Beverly Luff, Linda Redder, Audrey Peck, Muriel Smith, Dorothy Hopgood and Jack Easton.

The provincial government has plans for adopting the dogwood as the floral emblem of British Columbia.

This was indicated Tuesday when the government accepted a motion by Rae Eddie (CCF, New Westminster) asking that official recognition be given the flower.

Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan submitted an amendment, giving the government one year to reach a decision. He said the government was "sympathetic" to the motion.

Provincial cabinet today incorporated the new City of Langley and appointed a mayor and five aldermen to administer it until a May 31 election.

The cabinet action follows a vote taken last Sept. 27, when residents of the urban area of Langley Municipality approved formation of a city municipality.

Hunter Vogel was named mayor. Aldermen are Samuel Nundall, Winston Churchill Stevens, Richard Langdon, John Bryce Jeffery and Clive Rogers.

First meeting of the city council will be held March 17.

3,000 Entered In Victoria Music Festival

Folk Dancing
Opens Program

By Audrey St.D. Johnson

Busloads of youngsters from elementary schools, coming and going at the Victoria Badminton Hall on Amphion Street, today signaled the opening of the Greater Victoria Music Festival in which an approximate total of 2,500 children, plus several hundred adults, will take part.

Gay costumes and lilting music of national dances has filled the badminton hall since 9 this morning, as folk dance classes came under the analytical eye of Mrs. Thomas Bingham, Vancouver adjudicator.

The only evening session for dancers will take place this evening at the badminton hall, commencing at 8.

Katherine Costain School of Dancing, Adeline Duncan Dancers, St. Margaret's School, St. Ann's Academy, Mount View High School, Sons of Norway, high school age group from the Let's Dance Club and Junior YWCA will appear in the five competitions scheduled tonight.

CONCLUDE THURSDAY

Folk dancing will conclude with sessions Thursday morning, when schools and adult groups will take part. At St. John's War Memorial Hall, senior piano classes will begin at 9 a.m., with L. Shepherd-Munn, experienced British adjudicator from Vancouver, presiding.

At the same time, school chorus classes will get under way at Metropolitan Church, with Glyndwr Jones as adjudicator. Grades 1, 2, 3 and 4 will participate during the morning sessions; grades 5, 6, 7 and 8 in the afternoon.

There will be no sessions Thursday evening, but following violin, intermediate and senior piano, and school chorus sessions on Friday, a grand concert of school choirs selected by the adjudicator from the two day classes, will be presented at Metropolitan Church, Friday night, commencing at 8.

Mrs. Bingham today praised the work of the youthful dancers and gave observant critical suggestions concerning various details.

DONCASTER WINS

In the class for singing game, Grade 2, Doncaster School was declared the winner with their own selection of "I See You." Grade 1 singing game winner was also Doncaster School performing the Danish Dance of Greeting.

Grade 3 folk dancing winners were a group from Victoria West School and one from Gordon Head, who tied for top place, the former dancing "Kinderpolka" and the latter, "Gustaf's Skool."

Willows School and Sir James Douglas were tied as winners in Grade 4 folk dance, both presenting the Swedish Ring Dance. Second in this class of seven entries was Oaklands School, combining Divisions 8 and 9 in the Durham Reel.

WHEN'S PAYDAY?

Minister on Prowl For Office Space

By TOM GOULD

B.C.'s new cabinet minister today wandered the corridors of the Legislative Buildings, looking for an office.

W. N. Chant, Social Credit M.L.A. for Victoria, was sworn in as works minister late Tuesday by Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace, boosting the size of the cabinet from 10 to 11 members.

At the same time, former works minister P. A. Gagliardi was sworn in as minister of highways, a new portfolio created during the legislative session which prorogued Tuesday.

"I'm just scouting around, getting the lay of the land," Mr. Chant said. He said he was looking for a space in which to locate his office.

NO SALARY VOTE

Not only is he without an office, but the new minister is so far without his $7,500 salary. No provision for a new minister is made in the estimates approved during the session.

His pay will have to be approved by special warrant.

Mr. Chant's first duties will be to set up his departmental organization. Clive Campbell, chief architect, is expected to be named deputy minister of the new department.

The Victoria member will have jurisdiction over construction and maintenance of all provincial buildings. This includes construction of courthouses, jails, juvenile detention centres, and administration buildings.

Premier Bennett said Tuesday he welcomed Mr. Chant's acceptance of the cabinet post, "because of his experience, and because it will mean cabinet representation for the capital city and Vancouver Island."

The premier said Mr. Gagliardi's appointment will mean "streamlining of the department, and streamlining of our highway system. Gagliardi has the drive," he said.

Driver Fined $215 Or 51 Days in Jail

Total fine of $215 or 51 days in jail was imposed on a city motorist when he appeared in city police court today on seven traffic charges.

Fined was Donald Hirst, 728 Hillside.

He pleaded guilty Tuesday to three charges of driving without a driver's license, and one each of dangerous driving, failing to remain at the scene of an accident, speeding and failing to obey a traffic signal.

He was fined $50 each on the dangerous driving and failing to remain charges.

The charges involve offences on February 23, and March 12 and 13.

Horton Mill Purchased By New Company

Plant Output To Be Boosted

Horton Cedar Manufacturing Co. Ltd., shingle mill at Point Ellice, Inner Harbor landmark for 29 years, has been sold by Russell B. Horton to Smith Cedar Products Ltd.

Sale, for an undisclosed price, was announced today by Hershel A. Smith, president and manager of the firm.

Mr. Horton retired two months ago. The mill employs 35 men, and has a monthly payroll over $12,000. Present production is slightly less than one carload of shingles per day, but the new owner plans to increase it to a full carload.

Mill superintendent is Paul Gallant. The firm sells through the Red Shingle Bureau, and does considerable business in the high wind and hail areas of the United States, the West Indies and the United Kingdom.

"Red cedar shingles will stick to a roof through a hurricane where other roofing materials will not," Mr. Smith said. "They also are not affected by hail. We feel shingles are coming back as a quality product."

Mr. Smith, who has been in Victoria since 1948, is owner of the Oak Bay Lumber Co., that operates a sawmill at Sooke.

Originally from Manitoba, he served overseas with two tank regiments, the Grenadier Guards of Montreal and Ontario Regiment of Oshawa, and was severely wounded in Germany.

Vancouver Island Alcoholism Group Under Way Tonight

First meeting and election of officers of the Vancouver Island Alcoholism Foundation will be held tonight, it was announced today by James Audain, director.

Chief purposes of the organization are to enable alcoholics to recognize their condition, and to enlist the co-operation of public, private, and professional agencies in helping the foundation meet its objective.

"We especially want to rouse the interest of business firms," Mr. Audain said.

The group also wishes to conduct research into alcoholism, and into treatment and rehabilitation of alcoholics.

He said it is a professional organization with no connection with Alcoholics Anonymous, but will be vitally interested in the AA program.

Directors who will choose officers from among their number are W. Burns Scott, Rev. Douglas Kendall, Dr. D. E. Alcorn, J. Willard Smith and Mr. Audain.

3 1/2 Miles of Highway To Be Reconstructed

Tenders will be called by the end of April for reconstruction of about three and one-half miles of the Malahat Drive between Halls' Boathouse and the Summit.

Plans are now in Ottawa for study by federal government engineers. The federal government will pay half the cost, because the Island Highway is part of the Trans-Canada highway system.

Construction work is expected to start early in May. Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, said it is part of a "continuing program" which eventually will see the entire Malahat rebuilt.

The stretch of road included in this year's reconstruction program has been the object of protest by the Victoria Automobile Club and other organizations.

No Evidence Says Defense In Attempted Robbery Trial

Lawyer P. J. Sinnott requested Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane in assize court today to dismiss the charge of attempted robbery against 18-year-old John Nilberg, Victoria, claiming there was no evidence to support the charge.

Nilberg is accused of attempting to hold up Georgina Pauwels, owner of the Victoria Auto Court, Jan. 28. The trial opened Tuesday before a 12-man jury.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane adjourned the trial at noon today for a few hours in order to give crown prosecutor Joseph McKenna time to answer Mr. Sinnott's arguments.

Mr. Sinnott told the judge Mrs. Pauwels only saw a masked man pointing a gun at her.

The man, he said, never spoke a word nor did he steal anything from the auto court after Mrs. Pauwels slammed the door in his face.

"The charge could have been anything," he said. "It could have been attempted murder or attempted rape. Who can say why the man was there?"

Constable Frank Briers testified earlier he picked up suspect John Nilberg at the Gorge Bridge about 20 minutes after the attempted hold-up. The accused carried a plastic gun.

$38,000 Project Here To Provide More Phones

The B.C. Telephone today announced a $38,000 project in the Albion district to supply telephone facilities for several new subdivisions and growing areas. Work will be completed this summer.

The plan will provide local trunk facilities, as well as facilities for phones in new areas. The installation will include cable containing almost 2,000 miles of wire.

Main areas where cable will be strung include that bounded by Cedar Hill Road, Gordon Head Road, Cordova Bay Road and Cedar Hill Cross Road; on Arbutus Road between Finnelly Road and Dowe Road; the area bounded by Gordon Head Road, Finnelly Road, Sinclair Road and Ferndale Road, and the area bounded by Burdon Road, Feltham Road, Cedar Hill Road and Gordon Head Road.

The company also announced near-completion of a $17,000 project in a section of the Belmont area.

Almost finished is the job of installing cable containing more than 300 miles of wire. It includes open wire as well as cable.

This will provide improved service in the area.

As well as providing facilities for telephone for many applicants for service on Millstream Road, Rocky Point Road and Happy Valley Road, the project is expected to meet future growth in the area.

The installation included cable strung on Happy Valley and Sooke Roads between Station Road and Latoria Road; Millstream Road between Brock Road and Hoy Lake Road; and on Rocky Point Road between William Head and Walpole Roads. Open wire was strung on Rocky Point Road east and west of Brock Road.

ASK The TIMES

Q. What do the various provinces in Canada pay for yearly licenses? E.A.W.

A. It is assumed you mean yearly license fees for motor vehicles. The Times has not found available any official publication setting forth such figures for the 10 provinces. If there was one its contents would be much too bulky for this column. However, an unofficial computation as to how much it costs to keep a car on the road for a year in each province may be made by dividing the total provincial revenues from licenses, gasoline tax, etc., by the total number of vehicles, including cars, trucks and motorcycles. That calculation on the basis of totals for the year 1953 gives the following cost per vehicle for each of four of the provinces: B.C., $71.57; Saskatchewan, $76.40; Ontario, $78.76; Quebec, $125.72 (that province has a 13-cent gasoline tax).

Anyone wishing information answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

DROODLES

This doodle shows that snails have problems just like people. Well, not exactly like people because snails don't pay income tax or get athlete's foot but consider their housing problem. Everywhere a snail goes his house goes too, so he never has the fun of staying in a motel or moving in the spring. And it doesn't matter if he likes early American architecture or ranch style or what—he's stuck with his old-fashioned circular bungalow. The snail pictured above was an exception. He was feeding on a rubber plant one day and discovered his shell would stretch. So he made himself into a co-operative apartment. This makes things kind of intimate—but snails like that.

Community Rallies to Aid Burned-Out Family

Efforts to co-ordinate donations of clothing, household goods and food items for the Gordon Minckler family, burned out of their Happy Valley home Monday, are being made by Mrs. F. W. Slater, 140 Grainger.

The Langford woman, who has a background of social work experience, has offered to attempt co-ordination through Prince Edward Legion Branch, Langford.

She said there is so much duplication of donated items "in cases like this" that "it is a shame people are discouraged from giving things."

Mrs. Minckler, whose hands were severely burned when she attempted to control flames that swept through the $10,000 frame building, was reported in better condition today, although it will be some time before she is able to use her hands.

Her mother, Mrs. Ann Gran-rose, was burned slightly about the face and neck. She is reported doing well. Both are living at the home of Mrs. F. A. Walker, 105 Kelley, with the five Minckler children.

Among the groups planning fund-raising activities on behalf of the Mincklers is Belmont High School, which will present its play "The Counting of Marie Janvrin" in the school Friday, proceeds to go to the fund.

A dance sponsored by Methosin Farmers' Institute, Luxton Ratepayers' Association and Happy Valley P.T.A. will be held March 25 in Luxton Hall in aid of the family.

Businesses, groups and individuals accepting donations on behalf of the fire victims include: Mrs. Slater, Prince Edward Legion, Portage Meat Market, 300 Island Highway, and Colwood General Store.

SHOPPING GUIDE

The Handy Lighter as a Gift
Or to Tuck in Your New Purse

By PENNY SAVER

Did I ever see some handy little lighters today! They look terribly expensive, but they aren't. A cutwork, engraved lady's lighter measuring only one-inch high, has a little ball at the end of an inch-long chain attached, so that it would be easy to find in either purse or pocket. A compact block on the front leaves space for initialing. This one is all silver, but there are enamelled black and amber-brown ones the same shape and price... $1.50. As I said, they look and feel far more expensive than they really are. Wonderful gifts... for yourself or someone else.

Another make of lighter is also featuring charming styles for the ladies. Enamelled in turquoise, was one with a pert black French poodle on the front. A tiny red leash perked up the design. Under an inch in height is the one that comes in green, silver, black or burnt orange, and has an easy slide action. It's a real compliment to give such a gift to a lady... a smart, petite gift for someone who appreciates things in good taste. Both the last mentioned cost $1.98... not much for such handy items.

Paris-Inspired!

by Anne Adams

Paris inspired the lovely lines of this ensemble—you'll look so wonderful when you wear it! Bloused jacket buckles below the waist, adding a smart new touch to the fashionable "long look." Beneath is a simple sun dress—fitted and flattering.

Pattern 4811: Misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 16 dress, 2½ yards 45-inch; jacket, 2 yards.

This pattern easy to use, simple to sew, is tested for fit. Has complete illustrated instructions. Send 35 cents in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern. Print plainly size, name, address, style number. Send order to Anne Adams, care of The Times, Pattern Dept., 60 front St. W., Toronto 1-A. Ont.

the man in the house, how about this little Colt pistol! just pull the trigger, and the breach releases to expose the flint... there's your flame.

Now for the fluid. No, you don't have to cart a little can of lighter fluid around with you, now you can buy flexible capsules. They're easy to carry and can't break. English made they're just new in, and each capsule costs only five cents. Puncture the end of the capsule with a pin and squeeze the liquid into your lighter, that's all there is to it. Yes, only five cents each, and so easy to carry. There's just enough for one filling in each.

If your old lighter is getting a bit shabby, or you want to protect the finish on a new one, I've found some lighter covers for you. They're made of simulated grained leather, and stretch to fit any lighter. In green, black, brown, red, maroon, blue, reptile shades or natural, they cost 25 cents each. You can't beat a price like that can you? To match or contrast your accessories, these covers will brighten up your lighter. There's no glue used, so it can be removed to be replaced or put on another lighter.

PTA NEWS

Gordon Head—A film entitled "The Lion's Necklace," an Indian legend, was shown at recent Gordon Head PTA meeting. The Spring Festival, garden party and the subject of school crests were discussed during the evening.

Oaklands—Stimulating and informative viewpoints were presented on the subject of "Our Changing Education" at meeting of Oaklands PTA. Questions asked and answered included: How much are our schools and teachers responsible in disciplining and influencing our children? Is it not the changing society rather than our education that is at fault? Is our education a permanent thing with only the method changing? Panelists were Dr. G. L. Tracy, Victoria College; William Reid, principal, Lansdowne Junior High, and William George, speaking for the business man and parent. Dr. Henrietta Anderson was chairman. A spring tea is planned by the PTA in the school auditorium on April 6, at 2.30 p.m.

Norma MacDonald Writes
Of Experiences in India

As Canadian representative, Mrs. Norma MacDonald of the Oak Bay Beach Hotel has been attending the executive meeting of the World Association of Hotel Keepers in India. Excerpts from letters she has sent home to her family are reprinted in this column.

New Delhi, India.

Yes, this is truly a bit of Fairyland! Today was a wonderful day; I got up in a leisurely way after my early tea and orange juice at 8 o'clock. I then went to shop in their "Cottage Industries," and saw many lovely things that tempted me. Later, to lunch in the beautiful gardens of the Cecil Hotel, which is owned by an English family who have been here for 40 years. The original members are getting on now—in fact, only one is left. Like us, only nephews to carry on.

Before I left Victoria Sir Robert Holland gave me a letter of introduction to Rajkumar Amrit Kaur, a most delightful Indian woman who is minister of health and welfare, and I was invited to have tea with her. Her home is beautiful and it was so peaceful and pleasant sitting and listening to her talk.

Mr. Oberoi, one of the prominent hotel men in Delhi, put a car at my disposal, so I left the hotel in my own car driven by a handsome, bearded and turbaned Hindu, who waited while I had tea and then took me on to a reception at the president's palace. It would have been too bad to miss it, as it was the huge palace of the old British viceroys, and both buildings and gardens are beyond description. India's president, being a very modest man, lives in only one wing and the other rooms are used for public functions. I am hoping to go back there again for pictures.

Thanks also to Sir Robert, I have been invited by Rajkumar to a reception and presentation for Helen Keller, who has just arrived. As you know, this is Miss Keller's last trip around the world, and I feel very honored that I shall have an opportunity to meet her here. I remembered seeing her years ago in Winnipeg when she started touring with her guide and teacher.

AMONG DISTINGUISHED GUESTS AT BANQUET

Tonight was our special banquet here in the Imperial Hotel and it was perfectly done. On my right was Count Geoffrey Lynden, Belgian ambassador to India, and on my left a very distinguished Hindu who, until his retirement last fall, was chief justice for all India. He looks under 60. He now spends his time looking after his many orchards in the Vale of Kashmir.

I was disappointed to find that Mr. Nehru could not be with us for our opening session. We had instead his vice-president, Dr. Radhakrishnan. A very fine man, plain and unassuming, and an excellent speaker, he is one of India's leading philosophers.

Tomorrow we leave here by train for Calcutta. We will live on the train and make many stops, including Faridabad, Palwal and Mathura, arriving in the evening at Agra, where we will see the famous Taj Mahal. We will visit the Taj Mahal in the morning and from there go on to Fatepur Sikri, Agra, Fort, Trundie Ju and Etawah, and the next morning we will be in Banarès, where we will stay for a day and two nights, sleeping on the train. Here also we will be taken for a boat trip on the Ganges.

At Calcutta we will leave the train and fly to Darjeeling and go to Bagdogra at the foot of Mount Everest and here we will visit the home of Tensing Norkey, who climbed to the peak. We will be in Bombay about four days, then I fly to Hong Kong and that will start me on the way home.

I am seeing so much that is new and intensely interesting that I find it very hard to put it all in letters. I know I haven't given more than a resume of this whole trip, but I am storing it up for my return, when I hope, with my pictures, I can take my friends on this wonderful tour.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Sunlight and Shampoo
Both Are Good for Hair

Every once in a while March stops blowing long enough to treat us to a little of that first, wonderful sunshine, just a day or so at a time. Of course it depends partly on where you live. Perhaps you have quite a bit of sunlight in March. However, in most spots, this month is the bad boy, full of tricks and bluster.

Anyway, when one of these days arrives and you have the opportunity, it is a fine idea to give your hair a sunning. Sunlight is grand for the health of the hair and scalp if it is not too hot and if you do not stay in it too long. Over-exposure to strong sunlight can be damaging since it dries out the scalp and your tresses. However, this first gentle sunshine will be as good for your scalp as it will for you, especially if you leave your head uncovered and stretch and dream a bit.

The water you use when shampooing your hair is important. It should be soft. That is why your great grandmother used to catch rain water and use it for this purpose. Rain water is soft. So is distilled water. Even hard water can be made softer by boiling it and then letting the sediments settle. Afterwards pour off the water, leaving the sediments.

As you know, the community in which you live makes a difference. In some places the water is so hard that it is difficult to work up a lather with your soap. In other places the water is so soft that it is almost impossible to rinse yourself properly or to get up out of a tub without breaking your neck.

If catching rain for your shampoo seems impractical you can use one of the hard water soaps, or one of the water softeners.

The beauty of your hair is dependent as all beauty is, on good health, local care, and the use of cosmetic aids.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 52 "Stars in Your Crown," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Godparents to Vancouver Child

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maunsell, 1731 Newton Street, have returned from Vancouver, where they went to stand as godparents for the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon H. Sankey, North Vancouver, who received the names Michael Gluck Sankey in a recent baptismal ceremony.

Going to Eastern Canada

On Saturday, Mrs. G. Aubrey Henson will leave Victoria for Kingston, Ont., to attend the wedding of her nephew, Dr. Walter R. Henson to Miss Pauline E. Earl, Kingston. The wedding will take place in Sydenham United Church on March 26 in the Ontario city. Later, Mrs. Henson will visit relatives in Toronto and Winnipeg before returning to her home in Victoria.

Visitor Feted at Shower

Miss Gerry Smith and Mrs. R. Reid were co-hostesses recently at a miscellaneous shower at the home of the latter, 1332 Yates Street, honoring bride-elect Miss Betty Dungate. The hostesses are future sisters-in-law of the bride-elect, whose wedding to Mr. Gordon Smith will take place in Penticton next month. Miss Dungate, who was visiting the city for a few days, was presented with a corsage of green carnations and white jonquils by little Caroline Reid. Mrs. D. Smith, mother of the groom-elect, was also presented with a corsage. A basket decorated in St. Patrick's Day motif held the gifts, which were presented to the guest of honor by Master Jimmy Reid and Master Andy Reid. The refreshment table, which was covered with a green cloth, was centred with a shower cake in the shape of a shamrock bearing the words, "Best Wishes Betty." Other guests were Mrs. C. Godson, Mrs. M. Reid of Neepawa, Man.; Mrs. D. Creech, Mrs. R. Dunn, Mrs. L. Gordon, Mrs. N. Stewart, Mrs. D. Creech, Mrs. H. Stewart, Mrs. R. O'Connell, Mrs. Roach, Mrs. N. Taylor, Mrs. S. Brunet, Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Patterson, and Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Moore.

Dr. A. B. Nash of this city is one of the four guest speakers at the convention.

Fifty Years Married

Dr. and Mrs. H. Thompson, 1869 Lulie Street, who were married in Emmanuel Church, Malda Vale, London, W. Eng., on March 16, 1905, are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary today. A family dinner was held at the Chez Marcel last Monday evening to honor the bride and groom of 50 years ago. Hosts were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Greco and their grandsons, Cal and Archie Greco.

50th Year Celebrated

Members of St. John's Church Afternoon Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary attended a special missionary service in the church last Sunday to commemorate 50th anniversary of the organization. Archdeacon F. C. Cornish, DD, who preached the sermon, commended the work of the auxiliary throughout his year of the ministry and congratulated them on their 50 years of service. A Corporate Communion service will be held in St. John's Church on Thursday at 10.30 a.m. for members.

Pamela McMahon and Peter Hrycyk Repeat Vows in Evening Ceremony

At a quiet ceremony in Queen of Peace Church Tuesday evening, Pamela Gertrude McMahon became the bride of Peter Hrycyk. Rev. Father L. McLellan officiated.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. McMahon, York-shire, Eng., and groom, son of Mr. D. Hrycyk of Boryslav, Ukraine, and the late Mrs. Hrycyk, exchanged vows and rings in the presence of friends and relatives.

Given in marriage by her uncle, T. Rowan, the bride chose a ballerina-length gown of nylon net with a tiered lace and net skirt over a taffeta and crinoline underskirt. The full billowing skirt was topped with a lace strapless bodice and matching bolero jacket. Her fingertip-length veil of net was held by a diamante and pearl tiara. A shower bouquet of red roses completed her bridal ensemble.

Maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth

Kerwick, and bridesmaid, Miss Marilyn Ballantyne, were gowned in soft blue net-over-taffeta dresses fashioned with full skirts and matching shaded net boleros. Blue headbands were dotted with tiny flowers. Both carried carnation bouquets.

Best man was Lorne Harkin, and Brian Scott acted as usher.

Following the ceremony, a small reception was held at 418 Russell Street, with the immediate family in attendance.

For a honeymoon in Vancouver, the bride chose as a traveling outfit, an air force blue gabardine suit and grey wool topcoat. She wore red accessories and a red-rosebud corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Hrycyk will live in Sudbury, Ont.

Bennett-Evenden Vows Spoken in St. George's

Baskets of spring flowers were placed in the Church of St. George the Martyr, Cadboro Bay Road, Tuesday evening for the wedding of Meryl Aileen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Evenden, 1131 Palmer Road, and Ernest Gordon Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bennett, 1763 Emerson Street. Rev. William Hills heard the vows of the bridal pair, while P. H. Hughes played traditional organ music.

The Colwood Golf Club was setting for a reception which followed. Mrs. Evenden, mother of the bride, in a navy blue dress with matching accessories and a corsage of gardenia and roses, and Mrs. Bennett, mother of the groom, in a green silk dress with corsage of pink roses, assisted the young couple in receiving their guests.

The bridal table was covered with a linen cloth, and centred with a three-tier cake topped with freesia in a silver vase. Candles, in silver holders, and spring flowers flanked the beautifully decorated cake. Spring blossoms decorated the room.

Traditional toast to the bride was given by Graham Carson.

The bride wore a matching topcoat over her wedding suit, and chose navy accessories and a corsage of white orchids for her going-away outfit. Following a honeymoon, motoring in the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will live at 930 South-gate Street.

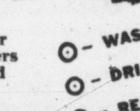

Mrs. J. N. Burns, sister of the bride, wore a dusky pink suit with black hat and shoes, and carried a bouquet of pink hyacinth and pink tulips. Best man

Just as Tough To Be A Widower as a Widow

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

Most people feel that the problems of a widow are much greater than those of a widower. The following letter shows that the widow is not the only one with problems to solve. The problem he describes thus:

Hurlock

(Q)—"I notice you get a lot of letters from widows who say they are lonely and are looking for another husband. I am a widower and lonely, but that is not my only problem. I know there are plenty of widows but, like most widowers who have had a happy marriage, I am afraid of making a mistake. Also, I have one son in the Army who will be home in July and another son who will be called into the service in the near future. I must have a home for them. What woman would want me with two sons who would have to live with us? Yes, I am lonely, but my children must have a home."

(A)—I agree with you that your sons must have a home. When they go into the service, nothing is better for their morale than to know that their home is waiting for them when they are on furlough or when they finish the period of their service.

Going into the service, when a young man is not planning to make this his life career, is often an upsetting experience for a young man. He feels that he is interrupting his education or his work, and that he is cutting himself off from his friends.

The one really secure anchor he has is his home. That is why it is so important for you to have a home for your sons. Soon, however, they will be thinking of marriage and establishing homes for themselves.

Most young men realize how lonely their fathers can be when their mothers die and how hard it is for a man to keep the home running, especially if he has a business to go to every day. I am sure your sons would want you to remarry, if you prepared them for it. Don't spring it on them, as it were, while they are away from home.

It would be far better to talk over the whole matter with them so they will know what you have in mind. Then, if you find anyone you think will be happy with you and you with her, make sure your sons have a chance to get to know her before you marry. If they like her, they will welcome a woman's influence in the home.

All-Pakistan Women's Group Aims At Emancipation of Moslem Wives

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—How many wives does your husband have? Does he let you help spend his income? Did you have any voice in choosing your husband?

These are some of the questions being asked of 5,000 Moslem wives by the All-Pakistan Women's Association. It aims to set up a bill of rights for the country's women, after analyzing returns from its questionnaire.

The association was founded by Begum Liaquat Ali Khan, Pakistan's ambassador to Holland. She is the widow of the country's first prime minister.

By tradition, Moslem husbands have dominated their wives, keeping them at home and also pampering them. The pampering has contributed to the domineering, and vice versa.

Hundreds of years ago, when nomadic raiders considered women a top prize, husbands tried to protect their wives by segregating them and making them stay home. The tradition of purdah—where a woman is secluded from the sight of all men except her husband—grew up. Wives began to wear veils.

The father often determined whom a girl could marry. The husband was allowed four wives; he controlled their finances and decided on almost anything they might want to do.

When Pakistan became independent, moves were made to reform Moslem society and emancipate the women. Many of the traditions broke down.

The All-Pakistan Women's Association, originally started to aid refugee women, entered the controversy as the practice

A donation of $5 was made to a fund to help bring foreign students to Victoria. Mrs. W. F. Mawdsley was appointed delegate to represent the chapter at the provincial annual meeting.

Rummage Sale—Final plans were made at meeting of Canadian Daughters League for a rummage sale in Orange Hall in late April. Plans were also completed for sponsorship of the Brenda York of Canada Packers Ltd. cooking school next Monday evening at 8 p.m. in the lower hall at the Crystal Garden. Reports were given as follows: Mrs. H. R. Milburn, education; Local Council of Women, Veterans patient, Canadian Association of Consumers, bridge, sick members and used cards. Mrs. G. H. Gardiner presided and Mrs. W. D. Morgan was named delegate to the provincial council convention in Vancouver in early April. Alternates are Mrs. Milburn and Mrs. M. A. Craig. Mrs. J. Copp, Assembly 6, Courtenay, B.C., was a visitor at the meeting.

Children Like Soupmates Flavorful and Different

Soupmates are two or more kinds of canned soups blended together for enticing flavor. Hot, flavorful and different, they are always welcome.

Serve this combination in mugs—chicken gumbo and chicken and rice. With the steaming mugs go hot dogs, hamburgers, pickles and onions. The teen-agers will wolf down this fare. So will you.

Here are some other soupmate tricks—meatless combinations: Green pea and tomato; vegetarian vegetable and cream of celery; clam chowder and green pea; tomato and cream of celery. You can mix clam chowder with cream of celery, and serve it with mixed green salad and assorted hot breads.

CHICKEN CORN CHOWDER (Serves Six)
One large onion (chopped), 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 can (1½ cups) condensed cream of celery soup, 1 soup can milk, 2 cans (2 cups) cream-style corn (No. 2 cans), 1 can (1½ cups) condensed chicken noodle soup, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, dash black pepper.

Cook onion in butter or margarine until soft. Blend in cream of celery soup and milk. Stir until smooth. Add remaining ingredients. Heat, but do not boil.

Top this chicken chowder with hard-cooked eggs and serve for Sunday night suppers with salad, hot biscuits, fruit and cheese.

London Woman to Study Life On Four Farms in Canada

LONDON (CP)—Sophisticated Joan Bostock is basically a city dweller and doesn't look the type to "poke about in pigsties," but that's what she'll be doing in Canada this spring.

Miss Bostock, 35, is going to visit four typical Canadian farms—in Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba and Nova Scotia—to gather material for a British farm-study plan.

She starts her Canadian tour at Guelph, Ont., May 9 and plans to spend about two weeks in each of the four provinces.

Her trip is sponsored by the Nuffield Foundation, a £10,000 philanthropic organization devoted to scientific advancement. Several Canadian authorities have offered their "invaluable assistance," she says.

The four farms haven't been chosen yet. The Ontario Agricultural College now is looking for a representative mixed farm near Guelph where she can study beef or milk production.

A Prairie grain farm, possibly in the Portage la Prairie area, is being selected by the agricultural department of Manitoba with the help of experts at the University of Manitoba.

Macdonald College at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que., agricultural section of McGill University, has promised to find her a "typical" dairy farm southeast of Montreal and Nova Scotia Agricultural College at Truro will pick an apple farm in the Annapolis Valley.

Firemen's Ball

The officers and members of the Victoria fire department will hold their annual ball at the Empress Hotel on Friday, April 29. Extending their patronage to this popular event are His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Wallace, Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Mrs. Bennett and Mayor Claude Harrison and Mrs. Harrison. Arrangements for tickets are in charge of S. McLaren and E. Ball.

British Discover Formula For Low-Cost Hydrogen Bombs

LONDON (UP) — A highly placed authority on Britain's atomic weapons program said Tuesday that Britain has discovered the secret of building low-cost, "budget" hydrogen bombs.

The source confirmed that the new "cheap" process enabled Britain to slash her budget for nuclear research and development at the very time when the nation announced its plans to build its own H-bombs rather than rely on American production.

CHEAPER RESEARCH

This highly reliable source was specifically asked if hydrogen bomb research and development is being done more cheaply than anticipated. He said that conclusion is correct.

Britain, according to several earlier reports, is building more "bang" into its H-bombs with a smaller outlay of money.

The source also clarified Foreign Minister Anthony Eden's cryptic statement that H-bomb tests now are possible without explosions.

What was meant, he said, was that scientists have developed paper research on the H-bomb to such an extent that no explosion is needed until the final assembly of the weapon. He said, however, that the ultimate "proof positive" still would be the explosion.

Mr. Eden's statement in Commons that explosions are no longer necessary jarred the jittery British press and brought out a rash of headlines like "No-Bang H-Bomb Tests Now!"

The Daily Herald spoke of "The Silent Dangers" and The News Chronicle said "No Check on H-Test Now."

The Chronicle theorized that Mr. Eden was referring to research based on past explosions or experiments in radiological warfare.

The Daily Express believed it was the former and pointed out that Russia staged a hydrogen bomb test more than a year ago.

Mr. Eden told Commons that atomic and thermonuclear tests were a "question to which we have given a great deal of thought and discussed with our Allies."

"There is a fundamental difficulty about it," he said. "Unfortunately an explosion is not the final expression of what is going on. You cannot exclude the possibility of experiments being carried out now without explosions."

CANT BE OBSERVED

"That would not have applied two or three years ago. But I am afraid it does apply now. We were hopeful it might offer a useful measure for some arrangement about a year ago. But I am afraid that the advance of science dimmed our hopes because what could be observed then cannot necessarily be observed now."

Rev. McLean Says Formosa Prosperous

By GAIL STOTT
Times College Reporter

Rt. Rev. J. L. W. McLean, DD, addressed members of the International Relations Club and the Student Christian movement at Victoria College on Monday.

His topic was "Formosa."

He first described life in Japan, noting an impression of prosperity and activity, and then told of the island of Formosa with its beautiful scenery. To enter the capital city, Taipei, he stated, he had to have special permission and report 24 hours after his arrival. The island is a police state with close government supervision over the people.

In discussing the manner and life of the people, he noted the lack of sanitation, and the narrow, winding streets cluttered with bicycles. The people in Formosa, he said, make a ritual of their meals, and they are careful where they seat guests.

He said Formosa was in a prosperous state, the people growing enough food to support themselves. The government is interested in education, social welfare and kindly disposed towards Christianity.

HEART, LUNG 'LOAN' SAVES LITTLE GIRL, 7

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP)—Seven-year-old Penny Rae Raymond looked forward today to a normal, happy life, thanks to the "borrowed" heart and lungs of a 41-year-old man.

Both Penny Rae and Ted Goodman the man who "loaned" her his heart and lungs, were recovering today from a rare operation to close a hole in the little girl's heart.

Dr. C. Walter Lillie, the University of Minnesota surgeon who directed Tuesday's delicate operation, told Penny Rae's parents she should soon be able to run and play with other children, barring complications, Lillie said.

'FOLLOW OLD STUFFY RULE'

Guardian Blasts U.K. Over Yalta Papers

MANCHESTER (Reuters)—The Manchester Guardian says the British foreign office is making itself slightly "ridiculous" by standing in the way of the publication in the United States of the record of the Yalta conference.

"It is, of course, only following its old stuffy rule which attempts to hide all documentary facts from the historian until 50 years after the event," The Guardian says.

"It is a rule that has been frequently broken—as with the pre-war diplomatic documents. To apply it to Yalta seems indefensible. For Yalta—a conference of 1945—has been described in considerable detail by the chief actors and it is hard to believe that much that was significant has not been told."

"The American secretary of state at that time, Mr. Stettinius, wrote a whole book about it in 1950, and the passages that so trouble the poor old foreign office's nerves—on the German character, on the French, and so on—are all well known."

"It is really time that we in this country adopted the American frankness about diplomatic documents instead of trying to hush things up—except when some strong person like the prime minister defies the bureaucratic conventions."

"The result of the Foreign Office's attitude is to create suspicion where there need be none."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Walter George (Dem. Ga.) predicts that State Secretary Dulles may change his mind and make public the controversial Yalta conference documents.

George, who heads the Senate foreign relations committee, said in an interview that he thinks the record of the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference 10 years ago "should be made public and the state department should do it."

Dulles was also reported to have told some senators that he is reconsidering his decision not to make public the documents.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Ben Barker (Mother of 5)

A friend, who recently visited a founding home, told me something which impressed me deeply. She said that apart from seeing to the infants' physical needs, all nurses were required to administer at least one or two hours of TLC to the babies each day. TLC is simply an abbreviation for "tender loving care"—or the cuddling, cradling and crooning that gives a baby a sense of being wanted.

Calories may be unpopular with out-size grownups, but rapidly-growing babies need a good share of these energy-givers.

Midday Magic. Soup for baby's lunch—delicious and nutritious—and easy to serve especially when you use Gerber's Strained Vegetable-Meat Dinners, by simply adding a small amount of milk or water. For these hearty dishes combine three important food groups: vegetables, meats and cereal. All carefully blended for a delightful variety of savory flavors. 5 Strained Dinners, 5 Junior dinners, for tots with a few tears.

Spot this! Milk, meat and egg stains on baby's clothing are more easily removed if you soak the articles in cold water before laundering in hot suds. Hot water, used first, will set the spot.

"Growing tools." Many a new mother asks: "Why meat for a tiny baby? Isn't it hard to digest?" First off, meat is the best-known source of the complete proteins so vital to growth and the development of all body structures. Gerber's 6 Strained Meats for babies are rich in these important "growing tools." And easy digestibility is assured since they're specially processed to remove most of the fat and fiber. Made from savory, selected juicy cuts, they're all solid meat, with just enough natural meat broth to give a smooth, nice-on-the-tongue texture. Gerber-Ogilvie Baby Foods Ltd., Niagara Falls, Canada.

FIRST PUBLIC ceremony since his serious illness was undertaken by Pope Pius XII when he rode into Sistine Chapel of Vatican City on his gestatorial chair to attend High Mass celebrating 16th anniversary of his accession to the Papal throne.

Untidy City Streets Hit Retail Merchants

The untidy condition of city streets was raised Tuesday as a matter of concern before the retail merchants section of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Members felt blame for the condition might be divided between the public, the shopkeepers and the city.

The group decided to circulate all chamber members, reminding them on their responsibility to keep sidewalks clean, and to call in city engineer Cyril Jones to discuss what steps the city might take.

"It seems a shame the streets get littered up as they do," Allan Leith, group chairman, commented.

SWEEPING BAD

He agreed with other members that the practice of some merchants to sweep refuse from their sidewalks into the gutter was no solution to the problem, in addition to being illegal.

"There's a law against sweeping into the gutter, but it's not enforced," John McLellan, former police chief, explained.

He felt the main reason for dirty streets was the city's lack of a flushing machine which could be used at night to wash streets and sidewalks.

NOT REPLACED

"They used to have such a machine in Victoria," Mr. McLellan said, "but when it wore out, they never bothered to get another to replace it."

Cy. Porter, group secretary, said he had inspected a number of the 115 refuse containers placed throughout the city and had found many unused, even though there was plenty of refuse about.

Enquiries from the city, he said, had shown that the containers cost $11 apiece and cost another $2 to install.

ALMOST SIGHTLESS, Miss Sheila Walker is shown by RN Mrs. A. E. Evans on giant-sized thermometer, how a blind nurse will be able to take temperatures with Braille reading. Red Cross is bringing special thermometers from Britain. Class in home nursing for blind is latest Red Cross project.

Red Cross Gives Home Nursing Instruction to the Blind Here

By PETE LOUDON

A new phase of Red Cross service—home nursing instruction to the blind—was inaugurated here recently.

A class of 25, two of the students men, is being guided through the first session by instructor Mrs. A. E. Evans, RN, Chairman of the home nursing committee of the Victoria branch. Mrs. R. Cave, also a registered nurse, was in attendance at the opening of the course.

So thorough is the planned course of study that manuals printed in Braille have been prepared. Due to arrive from England soon are thermometers which have the figures printed in Braille; but exactly how a blind person will be able to read the height of the mercury will not be known until the thermometers arrive.

Until then, the sightless students have use of a giant wooden thermometer with Braille figures formed on it with brass nail-heads.

Mrs. Cave says that the blind are taking exactly the same course which is given to other groups taking home nursing. Extra attention has to be given to some details. For instance, bed linen must all be folded one way with a centre mark made on bedsteads. By lining up the creases and the marks, the sightless student soon learns to make hospital style beds.

The class for the blind is extended over four months, twice as long as usual.

In 1954 the home nursing committee of the Victoria Red Cross held four classes; nine members of the Red Cross Corps completed 44 hours of additional training at the Jubilee Hospital.

The nursing service is one which costs the Red Cross much volunteer service. There are other phases of Red Cross work which costs a great deal of money. This year Victorians are asked to provide $74,000 to maintain the Red Cross worldwide network of mercy.

Thinning Out Easier Job When Undertaken Early

Seedlings of annual flowers and vegetables sown indoors should be pricked out as soon as large enough to handle. I used to wait until they had several pairs of leaves, but soon found that moving them while they have only the pair of seed leaves (the first to appear) really simplifies the job. There is no wilting, and consequently less set-back than when moving a larger plant.

The receptacles into which the seedlings are to be transferred may be either small pots or three-inch-deep boxes. These should be provided with drainage material—coarse soil, broken charcoal pieces or small crock pieces.

The soil mixture should contain enough fibrous material to adhere to the roots of the plant when finally put into the garden.

Remove a small group of seedlings from the seed pan with the aid of a flat pointed seed label. Separate them gently, make the hole for the roots with the pointed end of a round dibber, similar to a thick pencil, and drop the roots well down into the hole. Firm the soil, but do not pack it, around the roots with the dibber.

When the box is filled, water gently with a fine spray or set the box into a sink with an inch of water in it. Allow the water to seep in until moisture shows on the surface. The box will not require further watering for a week or more.

Label the box again the same as the seed box, together with the transplanting date. Shade with paper for a few days, unless it can be kept out of direct sunlight.

You will be amazed how quickly seedlings progress when pricked out when young, and your enjoyment will be doubled.

Transport Commissioners Consider New Bell Issue

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Board of Transport Commissioners today opened a hearing on an application by the Bell Telephone Company of Canada to issue up to 1,700,000 shares of $25 par value stock expected to raise $42,500,000 in new capital.

The company asked the board to approve $37 per share as the minimum price at which the shares would be sold to its shareholders in a one-to-seven ratio.

Norman A. Munnoch, the company's counsel, said Bell's expenditures for new construction will total $116,977,000 in 1955 and $112,183,000 in 1956. Last year's outlay for new construction was $105,317,000.

He said $101,000,000 in new capital would be required this

TODAY'S MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Displays Substantial Gains

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market recorded a second straight session of gains today and was well ahead in all divisions towards the close.

Western oils led market strength with a 1 1/2-point index climb to 103.90. General Pete climbed 45 cents by 2 p.m. and Home Oil and Triad 30.

Papers led industrials up. Burns A climbed $4 to $34, Canadian Vickers $2.62 1/2, General Dynamics $3.50 and gains between $1 and $2 went to Canada Maltin, International Paper, Price Brothers, Ford A, Great Lakes and Hinde and Dauche.

Montreal Locomotive, trading ex-dividend, fell $9 to $17.

Strong mines included Consolidated Denison, up 40 cents, Can-Met 13 cents, Dyno 17, Faraday 14 and Bathurst 19.

Algom gained 75 cents.

Among base metals, Noranda gained 1 1/2 1/2.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market in its second straight recovery session today more than made up for the heavy losses suffered in Monday's break.

The market as a whole, however, still remained severely depressed under the peaks reached two weeks ago before the start of a major corrective reaction.

Price changes today ranged from losses of a point to gains running a little past 4 points.

Most favored divisions of the market were steel, aircraft, utilities, copper, railroads and merchandising shares.

Canadian stocks were higher. Canadian Pacific and International Nickel added 1/4, Dome Mines 1/4 and McIntyre 1/4.

On the American exchange, Giant Yellowknife added 1/4.

MONTREAL (CP)—Prices moved higher in active trading on the stock market today.

Leading were General Dynamics up 3 1/2, Canadian Vickers, 2 1/2, Hudson Bay, 1 1/2, and International Paper, 1 1/2. Other strong spots were Industrial Acceptance, Dominion Glass, St. Lawrence, Aluminum and Algom, each up a point.

Montreal Locomotive went $9 ex-dividend today and settled at 17 1/2 off 7 1/2 from Tuesday's close. Mines edged forward with Consolidated Denison up 45 cents and Quebec Copper off 15.

Vancouver: Mid morning sales.

National Exploration sold 31,000 ranging from $1 to $5; Mid West Gas, 4,800, $2.65; Beaver Lodge, 4,600, $5; Silver Standard, 700, $5; Capital Estates, 400, $5.20; United Oils, 300, $1.30; North West Ventures, 1,300, 32; Sparnac, 2,100, 46.

LONDON (Reuters)—Following sharp overnight recovery on Wall Street, the market started the new account on a cheerful note and almost all sections recorded gains.

However, business was small and selective. Oil-edged stocks showed fractional gains.

Foreign bonds were firm. In rails, Canadian Pacific and White Pass responded to the higher trend.

Stock closing: Babcock & Wilcox 72 1/2, Boots Pure Drug 26 1/2, Central Mining 39 1/2, Courtauld 36 1/2, Hudson's Bay Co. 155 1/2, Imperial Chemical 40 1/2, Imperial Tobacco 61 1/2, Metal Box 76 1/2, Mexican Eagle 20 1/2, Rand Mines 66 1/2.

Bonds: British 2 1/2 Consols 63 1/2, British 3 1/2 War Loans 84 1/2, British Fundings 45, 1960-90, £100.

Financial Times index of stocks: 179.4, up 3.7.

VICTORIA—Banks buying U.S. cash and cheques at 1 1/2 per cent. Cash 1 1/2 per cent. Silver at 5 per cent. NEW YORK—Canadian dollar worth 81.01 1/2 American. Pound sterling worth 82.74 1/2-16.

MONTREAL—United States dollar worth 81.01 1/2 Canadian. Pound sterling worth 82.74 1/2-16.

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains had difficulty in hanging on to early advances on the board of trade today.

Toward the finish selling entered wheat and corn, which up until that time had scored fairly sized gains. Dealings were slow in all pits.

Dulles Due in Ottawa For 3-Day Talkfest

World Policies to Share Visit's Spotlight With Domestic and Trade Difficulties

By GEORGE KITCHEN

WASHINGTON (CP)—State Secretary John Foster Dulles goes to Ottawa this week for a three-day goodwill visit that will give the Canadian cabinet an opportunity for a fill-in on latest developments in United States foreign policy.

He is expected to fly to Ottawa Thursday morning aboard a U.S. Air Force plane and return to Washington sometime Saturday. While in Ottawa he will stay with Governor-General Vincent Massey.

State department officials emphasize that the trip, Dulles' first since he became secretary of state two years ago, is an official "goodwill" visit with no particular significance and no specific subject for discussion with the Canadians.

However, other highly-placed informants say there is little doubt Canadian cabinet members will seize the opportunity to get the latest U.S. viewpoint on key world problems and to re-acquaint Dulles with the Canadian stand. Items of common continental interest also are expected to be touched upon.

POLICY OUTLINE

It has been customary for distinguished visitors to Ottawa to be invited to sit in with the Canadian cabinet and the expectation here is that Dulles will be asked to join in a cabinet session.

Informed sources here expect he will place before the Canadian ministers a broad outline of American foreign policy, particularly in the light of his recent two-week visit to the Far East. Dulles attended the Bangkok conference of Southeast Asia defense treaty powers and went on to Formosa, where he signed the U.S.-Formosa mutual security pact and re-emphasized U.S. determination to defend the nationalist stronghold.

Other problems, closer to home, also enter into speculation here as possible topics for discussion.

Ceylon Arms Vets as Red Strike Grows

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Ceylon's government announced today that it is ordering 5,000 ex-servicemen to home guard duty to meet disturbances feared from a spreading Communist-fomented bds strike.

Premier Sir John Kotelawala also ordered issuance to army units of 2,000 rifles and 900 sten guns recently purchased from Britain.

Informed sources said the premier feared the 178,000-member public servants' union of clerks and minor government employees might join in the strike wave. The walkout already has paralyzed bus transport on the commonwealth island's southern coast.

BIG SHIPYARDS

Japanese shipyards have an annual building capacity of 600,000 tons, far in excess of domestic demand.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

District Notes—Dr. Velen Fanderlik, Rover commissioner for Vancouver, gave a talk on Scouting methods and practices at the Scouters' Council meeting. A committee has been formed to look into the idea of a Scout circus or rally this fall. The district staff will hold a meeting on Wednesday evening at 8:30 in Headquarters, 1034 Johnson Street. A number of Scouters are attending the provincial annual meeting in Vancouver this week-end.

Sidney Group—Clifford Burrows, Rodney Coward, Leonard Canes and Jim Taylor were invested as Scouts. "Leaping Wolf" badges were presented to Clifford Canes and Jim Taylor by Mrs. N. Cooke, Akela of the B Pack. Following badges were presented at the A Pack meeting: Collectors, Glen Miller and Clifford Dawson; swimmers, John McConachie; second year star, Brian Hunt and Gordon Martman, and first year star, Kerry Butler.

Parkdale Group—The B Pack held a special "loggers" night, each boy dressing up as a logger. The games were played around the romance of the old hand logging.

Luxton Group—Nine boys from the troop have won their Fireman's badge, taking their test at the Langford fire hall.

Marigold Group—At a "going-up ceremony, Jeremy Davis, Billy Cave, Bjorn Stavrum, Joe Dunn and Gordon Lennox went on to the troop.

Jordan River Group—Ken Poirier and Larry Chute were invested as Scouts. Jon Elliot received his Woodworker's badge. Steven Weidesteig, David Leonas were invested as Wolf Cubs. A number of service stars were presented at the meeting.

Nanaimo District—Field commissioner Jim Blain presented district commissioner E. R. Stevens with his "Gillwell Beads" given to scouts who have taken extensive training in scout or cub work. The Nanaimo district plans to send 15 scouts to the Eighth World Jamboree this summer. These boys will be from the First Nanaimo, Brechin and Harewood Troops. George Benwell, district president, and E. R. Stevens, district commissioner, will attend the provincial annual meeting.

Prospect Lake Group—The troop under scout J. Benwell made a tour of the Four X Bakery, the management showing the boys the process of making and baking bread.

The Sidney Group committee raised the sum of $90 at a series of card parties.

Duncan-Chemain District—The district has raised half the amount set out for their financial drive and will continue to the end of the month.

Brakeman Killed As CNR Trains Collide in N.B.
MIGVINEY JUNCTION, N.B. (CP) — A diesel-powered Canadian National Railway freight plowed into the rear of another freight at this central New Brunswick railway junction early Tuesday and demolished a caboose, killed a brakeman and derailed nine empty cars. Both trains were moving westward at slow speed. The dead brakeman was identified as Robert Pettley of Harcourt, N.B. He was riding in the caboose of the front train.

By PETE LOUDON

Saanich municipality will lose about $158,000 in provincial aid this year due to equalization of assessment and the new school formula, it was learned today.

Out for Season

Rocket Richard, Canadians' star today was suspended for the rest of the year, including playoffs, by NHL President Campbell, for attacking an official Sunday night.

CCF Decision In Lillooet Due Saturday

By TOM GOULD

Times Legislative Reporter

The CCF party is expected to make the first move in the Lillooet by-election Saturday, when party members there decide whether to contest the seat.

A meeting will be held at Lillooet to make the decision. CCF leader Arnold Webster, Anthony Gargrave (CCF, McKenzie) and other party officials will be on hand.

CCF strategy could decide the outcome of the election. A CCF candidate was out in front in the first count of ballots in the 1953 general election, and Lillooet is a "working man's riding."

Under the single "X" ballot which will be in effect for the by-election, the CCF contestant is expected to have a good chance of walking away with the seat.

Meanwhile, the Liberals have announced plans for a giant nominating rally in April, with their eye on a June by-election call. No definite plans have yet been laid.

Social Credit plans for a nominating convention have not been announced.

Rebel Tory Sees 'Peace'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A meeting of national officers of the Progressive Conservative Party in Ottawa next week will be attended by Deane Finlayson, rebel B.C. leader.

Mr. Finlayson said today he is confident all differences between the B.C. association and national leader, George Drew, will be settled at the meeting.

"The aim is to restore all party affairs, federal and provincial, in B.C. to the provincial association constituted for that purpose," he said. "I believe the national officers will see their way clear to do this."

Flin Flon Champions

WINNIPEG (CP)—A quartet of Flin Flon secretaries today won the western Canada women's curling championship. Mrs. Ethel Wright's rink overpowered the Alberta entry skipped by Mrs. Graham Morton of Calgary 16-6 to win the Eaton trophy.

FRANCE WILL BUILD H-BOMB

PARIS (UP)—Premier Edgar Faure said today that France would build a thermonuclear weapon by itself or in co-operation with other nations.

"France cannot remain in an inferior category of nations because she does not have the thermonuclear weapon," he said.

Tanker Crew Forces Ship To Alter Course

Will Not Deliver Jet Fuel to Reds

HELSINKI, Finland (UP)—A crew rebellion forced the Finnish tanker Aruba to quit its course for Communist China with 13,000 tons of jet fuel today and a company spokesman said the ship now will head for a non-Communist port.

The chief petty officer and three mates joined the crew in a 42-man strike against running the gauntlet of Chinese Nationalist warships waiting to seize the Aruba and her cargo of fuel for Red China's Russian-built Mig jets.

Gunnar Damstroem, director of the Re-Bre Shipping Company which owns the Aruba, said the tanker which now is in the Indian Ocean will have to call at a non-Communist port. He declined to say which one.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist navy cruising off the China coast has orders not to let the Aruba pass.

Bishop To Be Named

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Nine candidates are in the running for Anglican bishop of Kootenay, to be elected today at a meeting of 30 clergy and 60 lay delegates from every parish in the diocese.

THE POWER OF POSITIVE THINKING For Young People

(A revision of Dr. Norman Vincent Peale's best two-year best-seller "The Power of Positive Thinking" the following is one of a daily series of articles specially directed to young people but helpful to all ages.)

BY DR. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

CHAPTER II

POWER COMES FROM A QUIET MIND

A young girl, not more than 15 years old, came up to me after church one morning. "Could I ask you something, Dr. Peale?" she said.

I asked her to wait while I shook hands with a long line of people. Then I took her back to my study. "What's the matter?" I asked, expecting to hear about some difficulty at school, either with her friends or with her lessons.

"It's my mother," she said. "She can't sleep. I've got to find some way to help her sleep."

I was reminded of an incident that had happened to me, a man who had complained at the breakfast table in a hotel where I was stopping of his inability to sleep. "Maybe the coffee I drank before retiring had something to do with it," he said.

Then another man spoke up. "I had a grand night. Of course," he explained with a twinkle. "I used my go-to-sleep plan which never fails."

REVEALS TECHNIQUE

I prodded him for an explanation, as he meant me to do, and he gave me the following as his "never fail go-to-sleep technique."

"When I was a boy, my father, a farmer, had the habit of gathering the family in the parlor at bedtime and he read to us out of the Bible. I can hear him yet. In fact, every time I hear those Bible verses I always seem to hear them in the tone of my father's voice. After prayers I would go up to my room and sleep like a top."

"But when I left home I got away from the Bible reading and prayer habit."

"I must admit that for years practically the only time I ever

Bevan Expulsion Splits Labor Party in Britain

MPs Divide 141-112 On Welshman's Ouster

LONDON (CP)—Labor members of Parliament kicked left-winger Aneurin Bevan out of their ranks today on charges of disloyalty. This isolates him as an independent in the House of Commons.

The 57-year-old former Welsh coal miner, was reported to have told a closed meeting of Labor MPs that he would never ask for reinstatement.

The action came on a motion to "withdraw the whip" from Bevan—meaning to remove the party label. The vote was 141 to 112.

This disciplinary move was sponsored by the moderate supporters of former prime minister Clement Attlee, the party's 72-year-old official leader. He has been subject to repeated attacks from Bevan and his followers in the last three years.

TURN DOWN REPRIMAND

Attlee's supporters rejected a last-minute attempt to get Bevan off with a reprimand. The vote on that was 138 to 124.

Today's decision creates the biggest Labor party crisis since prewar days. Bevan's followers predicted after today's meeting that the decision has crushed the party's hopes of beating the Conservatives if the government calls a national election this year.

There were a number of abstentions in the showdown. There are 292 Labor members of the House of Commons. Socialist peers in the House of Lords also were eligible to take part in the meeting.

Bevan's reported retort that he would "never ask to have the whip back" seemed to dampen any attempts to mend the split in the party despite the prospect of an election.

MUST ABIDE BY RULES

By tradition the whip is not returned unless the member concerned applies for reinstatement and signs a declaration to abide by party rules in the future.

"The parliamentary party is a separate group—distinct from the Labor Party itself."

Expulsion from the party can be imposed only by the national executive, the supreme disciplinary body. Attlee normally controls the 29-member executive and only six members are classified as outright Bevanites.

Bevan could probably command more votes than this, however, with many middle-of-the-roads shying away from expelling him to keep rank-and-file followers of the Welshman from revolting.

HAS A FINAL APPEAL

Bevan still has a final appeal to the Labor party conference as a whole.

Today's decision will be reported in writing to the party executive and then the question whether there should be any further action may be raised.

The last time the whip was withdrawn was November, 1954, when seven MPs lost it because they refused to follow the Labor line in the Commons.

On that occasion the report from the parliamentary party was formally noted and no further action was taken. Since then, all seven have, upon their own request, been returned to the fold.

OVER H-BOMB POLICY

The disloyalty charges grew out of Bevan's heated opposition to the official party line on hydrogen weapons.

Attlee and his shadow cabinet—15 leading party members who would become government ministers if the party returned to power—backed the Churchill government's policy of building and stockpiling H-bombs as a deterrent to Communist aggression.

"It's no good going to the Kremlin in thinking you can read them the Sermon on the Mount," Attlee said in a speech. "You have to talk to them straight."

But Bevan kicked over the traces with a call for a declaration that Britain would never use the H-bomb unless an enemy used one against Britain first. About a fifth of the Labor members in the House, including ardent pacifists, supported him. The fight was joined with a declaration by moderate Sir Hartley Shawcross that Bevan's proposal was "suicidal, almost criminal."

Many Conservatives continued putting pressure on Churchill to call a general election quickly to take advantage of the Labor feuding.

Attlee and the shadow cabinet scorned suggestions of compromise with Bevan, agreeing in advance to resign if Bevan won today.

ANEURIN BEVAN ... won't ask reinstatement

New Party? 'Nonsense' Says Jennie

TORONTO (BUP)—Jennie Lee, wife of ousted British Laborite Aneurin Bevan, said today that any speculation that her husband might form a separate political party would be "complete nonsense."

In a trans-Atlantic telephone interview with the Toronto Star, she said Bevan "feels his home is in the labor movement" and that "the points of view he expresses are those of the great majority of those in the labor movement."

She stressed that the party's national executive and national congress must still discuss the action of the parliamentary body in disowning Bevan.

In the meantime, she said, her husband "will continue expressing the viewpoints which are his and which he believes to be those of most persons in the labor movement."

Markets Still Moving Ahead

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market extended its recovery drive today with advances ranging to around $4 a share in some instances.

Bethlehem Steel rose $4.12, General Dynamics $2.87, American Telephone $2.12 and Sears Roebuck at Texas Co. $1.75.

There was a brisk demand for shares at the opening and the ticker tape ran behind in reporting transactions.

School Costs Up $1.4 Million At Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—A whopping $1,760,515 budget, bearing the seal of approval of the department of education in Victoria, was presented to city comptroller Frank Jones Tuesday by school board officials.

Vancouver's share of the expenses will be $8,087,709.

Estimated school expenditures for 1955 are $1,470,799 higher than 1954 on a comparable basis. But because of the new provincial school tax formula officials could not immediately estimate the cost to city residents.

Sulphuric Acid Burns 5 Girls In School Mishap

YORKTON, Sask. (CP)—Eight grade 11 students at the Yorkton High School suffered acid burns Tuesday when a five-gallon jar of sulphuric acid broke.

Five of the girls were detained in hospital.

The jar of acid fell in the school corridor and the girls in their attempt to get away, slipped and fell on the acid-covered floor.

Hot Time In V-Town Tonight; Gaudy Welcome for Champions

Triumphant homecoming of the Penticon V's will be broadcast by CUB from 6.30 to 6.45 tonight.

Films of the homecoming will be shown on CBU-TV at 7.30 p.m. Thursday.

PENTICON (BUP)—This peach of British Columbia cities opened up its heart today for its world hockey champion V's in the noisiest, most colorful celebration in its history as the team neared home and a gaudy hero's welcome.

The long, narrow main street bustled with activity as celebrants hung banners, balloons, pictures and placards.

Coach Grant Warwick's fabulous club was due at 4 p.m. aboard a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane after its triumphant European tour which returned the world hockey championship to Canada. The team had originally been scheduled to return at 2.45 p.m.

Green and white paper streamers—in the colors of the club—were hung across the street. The V's homecoming parade will come down this street, with a crowd of 20,000 expected to cheer the players, who will each ride in a convertible car.

Scots Win Soccer

GLASGOW, Scotland (UP)—The Scottish League soccer team beat the English League 3-2, in an inter-league match at Hampden Park today before 25,000 fans. The half-time score was 2-2.

The Scots previously defeated the Irish League, 5-1, and the League of Ireland, 5-0. As a result of today's match, they became the "unofficial" inter-league champions.

Prison Guards Strike

HELSINKI (AP)—A strike of prison officials started in Finland at one minute past midnight. Authorities said prison wardens are asking the most trusted among the convicts to take over guard duties.

Workers' Income Up

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canadian workers earned a record $11,910,000,000 during 1954, the Bureau of Statistics said today. It was two per cent above 1953.

Bear Terrifies City

GRANBY, Que. (CP)—A 300-pound bear escaped from the zoo here today and terrorized residents for nearly an hour before being shot by police.

Matusow Jailed

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Judge R. E. Thomson today sentenced turnabout witness Harvey Matusow to three years in prison for criminal contempt of court. Judge Thomson ordered him remanded in custody and set bond for appeal at $10,000.

FRENCH RATIFICATION OF ARMS PACT CERTAIN

PARIS (UP)—The powerful Senate foreign affairs committee approved the Paris pact without amendment today to practically assure French ratification of German rearmament.

The committee voted 20 to 6 with four absentions in favor of the accords which come up for debate before the full Senate next week.

The committee recommendation is expected to push ratification over the top after four years of French hesitation about German rearmament.

Noted B.C. Soldier Next Lieut. Governor?

Possibility that the next Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia may be Maj.-Gen. Harry F. G. Letson, CB, CBE, MC, ED, PhD, LLD, of Vancouver and Ottawa, was reported to the Daily Times today from usually reliable sources in Vancouver and the nation's capital.

Maj.-Gen. Letson was reported "considering" a suggestion that he become the Queen's representative at Cary Castle when Lt. Col. Clarence Wallace, CBE, retires in October.

In the widespread speculation as to a successor, the name of Maj.-Gen. Letson has not heretofore been mentioned. Prominent among those who have been named "likely candidates" are Vice-Admiral Rollo Malinguy, chief of naval staff at Ottawa, and a native of Vancouver Island; and Frank Ross, well-known Vancouver soldier-rancher-industrialist.

Maj.-Gen. Letson's wife is the former Sally Lang Nichol, daughter-in-law of the late W. C. Nichol, who was lieutenant-governor of British Columbia from 1920 to 1926.

Maj.-Gen. Letson, a native of Vancouver, graduated from the University of B.C. in 1919 and took a PhD from London University in 1923.

He served in both world wars and was badly wounded in the 1914-18 war when he won a Military Cross. He was adjutant-general from 1942 to 1944 and chairman of the Canadian Joint Staff Mission in Washington, D.C., in 1944 and 1945.

From 1946 to 1952 Maj.-Gen. Letson was secretary to the Governor-General of Canada, serving both Viscount Alexander of Tunis and the Hon. Vincent Massey.

A crack rifle shot, Maj.-Gen. Letson commanded the Canadian Bisley team in 1934 and is a life governor of the Canadian Rifle Association.

In business life, Maj.-Gen. Letson has been president of Letson and Burpee Ltd. since 1935 and a director of the Powell River Company and Ferro Enamels (Canada) Ltd.

SPRING FASHION SECTION IN THURSDAY'S TIMES

The Times' annual spring fashion section will be issued tomorrow with the regular editions of the newspaper.

Emphasis this year has been laid on the pictorial side of the new clothing styles. Local models did the posing in the latest creations for milady and Victoria apparel stores are all represented with their new offerings.

Well, 't ain't the fust time Bevan's bin left.

Ain't no truth in them rumors that by the time Penticon departed some o' them European hotel keepers were mutterin', "Go, V's, go."

With so many o' th' provincial buildin's right here in town, guess th' new minister won't git in much flyin' time.
